MICHAEL COLLINS SHOT DEAD FROM AMBUSH

Free State Hero in Uniform Was Killed by Assassin

Spoke in Cork Before Great Crowd Then Went to a Death That Had Been Planned by Executive of Enemy

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Michael Collins, head of the Irish provisional government and the Irish national army, was shot and killed from ambush at Bandon, County Cork, who for the first time saw the Free State hero in the uniform of commander-in chief.

Thus, within ten days, two of the most prominent figures in the Irish free state government have been removed by death. Just ten days ago. President Griffith, of the Dail Eireann, considered the brains of the new administration, died in Dublin tonight, Michael Collins, the free state's military genius, was killed at the moment when the dissipation of the irregular forces in the south was considered complete.

Several attempts have been made against the life of Michael Collins, head of the provisional government and commander-in-chief of the Irish Free State army. The latest attempt was a bombing outrage when his car was ambushed last Friday afternoon on the Dublin side of Stillorgen. The official communication issued in connection with this attack did not indicate whether Mr. Collins was in the machine at the time. The driver was wounded and the car wrecked, a bomb and more than a score of shots being fired.

Incident of April 17th

In Dublin, on April 17, while Mr. Collins was on his way home after having addressed a meeting at Naas, County Kildare, he was attacked by a group of men, some with rifles, who rushed his car and opened fire.

The Collins' party returned fire and one of the assailants was captured. Collins was not injured.

Mr. Collins, in addition to being commander-in-chief of the Free State army, was finance minister in the Dail Eireann cabinet. He was one of those who succeeded in obtaining a temporary injunction in New York on Monday, restraining Eamonn De Valera or his agents from withdrawing funds collected for the Irish republican cause deposited in banks in New York.

Abandoned Civil Life

It became necessary in view of the recent operations of the irreguiar forces, for Collins to assume active charge of the Free State army in the field, and for some time past he had abandoned the civil part of the government for the military.

Recent arrivals in London from Dublin declared that the assassination of Collins was forecast in Ireland. It was planned to secure the removal of the sole remaining outstanding figure in the provisional government, and it was said to be also in part a measure of reprisal against the shooting of Harry J. Boland, the close associate of Eamonn De Valera, by Free Staters.

Agitation Continued

Agitation had been going on for a considerable time and the walls of Trinity college and other public buildings bore the inscription that Boland was shot by Free Staters when he was unarmed.

As a measure of precaution, extra guards were thrown around the Free State chief because the determination of the rebel element to rid the country of the strong man in the Free State movement was an accepted fact.

Dodged the Crowds

Of a retiring disposition, and known as a man who "dodged the crowds," Collins was a most assiduous worker, both in the government and in the field. He also was an orator of great ability, whose speeches generally moved his hearers.

With Arthur Griffith Collins was considered one of the mainstays of the provisional government since its inception.

Collins, prior to entering the factions in Ireland favorable to peace, had fought with the Sinn Feiners against the black and tans and the royal Irish constabulary.

When, finally after bitter debate in which he was heckled by Eamonn De Valera and other republican leaders, and the Dail Eireann ratified the treaty, Collins was cheered as he emerged from the sessions.

London Conferences

During the conferences in London on the treaty and various other subjects connected with Ireland, Premier Lloyd George, Winston S. Churchill, secretary for the colonies, and Lord Birkenhead, the lord high chancellor, were said to have held Collins in the highest esteem.

With the passing of Arthur Griffith, who died August 12, and Collins, the Irish Free Staters have lost two men they will find hard to replace. When Mr. Griffith was buried, Collins, dressed in full uniform, was the chief mourner for the government. Although threats had been made against his life and his friends inveighed against his participating, Collins marched in the front of the procession to Glasnevin cemetery.

A Young Man

Collins was still in his thirties. Last May it was announced that Miss Pitty Kiernan, who belongs to one of the leading families in Longford, was engaged to marry Collins.

Little is known of the early life of Collins except that he is said to have been born of humble parents in County Kerry. He was educated in the national school and after working with a brother in the grocery business entered the postal service. At one time he was employed in the London post office.

1914 Compromise

Collins sprung into prominence in October, 1914, in connection with the Sinn Fein movement. In 1916 he commanded a section of the rebel army in Ireland, of which Patrick H. Pearce, who later was executed, was commander-in-chief. It was charged in a government paper that "a priest named Michael Collins" accompanied Sir Roger Casement, who later was executed for treason for connection with the Sinn Fein plot with Germany, on a mission to Germany to visit Irish prisoners of war.

Although a member of the Imperial parliament, Collins never sat at Westminster. During the troublous times between the Sinn Feiners and the British forces, Collins was said to have made his headquarters in Dublin, although he was prepared to move hither and thither on the shortest notice. The Royal Irish Constabulary, the Black and Tans, and the auxiliaries frequently raided premises where Collins was supposed to be, but he always managed to elude them. His boldness was a by-word for all Irishmen.

Collins is said to have gained his knowledge of finance which brought him the portfolio of minister of finance in the Dail Eireann through his training in the London office of the Guaranty Trust company.

CORK CHEERED COMMANDER ON VISIT TO CITY; TALK OF PEACE CIRCULATED BY REBELS

CORK, Aug. 22.—The citizens of Cork saw Michael Collins for the first time yesterday in the uniform of the commander-in-chief, and cheered him along the entire route through the city. One rumor, characterized as absurd, represented him as visiting Eamonn De Valera, in a dugout in a remote part of Cork. Peace talk of this kind has been industriously circulated by the rebels whose latest terms of peace are said to stipulate that they must be absorbed en masse in the free state army.

DUBLIN, Aug. 23.—Early this morning the chief of the free state general staff issued the following to the army:

"Stand calmly to your posts, then bravely and undaunted to your work. Let no cruel act of reprisal blemish your bright honor.

"Every dark hour that Michael Collins met since 1916 seemed but to steel that brave strength of his and temper his gay bravery. You, who are left, are each inheritors of that strength and that bravery.

"To each of you falls his unfinished work. No darkness in this hour; no loss of a comrade will daunt you at it."

CHINESE ENJOY BEST OUTLOOK SINCE REPUBLIC

Canadian Trade Commissioner at Shanghai Tells of Conditions

RAILWAYS ARE NEEDED

Period of Great Development Immediately Ahead Says Dr. J. W. Ross

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(Canadian Press).—"The outlook in China is now better than at any time since the republic was first formed in 1911," said Dr. W. J. Ross, Canadian trade commissioner in Shanghai to the Canadian Press here tonight. Dr. Ross believes that China has a great development immediately before her, and that railways will play a vital part in it. He says there are immense possibilities for Canadian trade with China, chiefly in manufactured products.

Wu Pei-Fu

"The history of the republic," said Mr. Ross, speaking of political conditions in China, "has been a long series of struggles between the 'tuchuns,' or military governors, and now out of these has come a strong man, Wu Pei-Fu, who, after overcoming Chang Tso-Lin, military governor of Manchuria, has turned his attention to Sun Yat Sen. The latest despatches indicate that Sun Yat Stn has thrown in his fate with the north, which will unify the country and cannot fail to be a benefit. Wu Pei-Fu has made Li Yuen Hung president, and with the power of China centralised in three strong men—Wu Pei-Fu, Li Huen Hung and Chang Chien Ming—the outlook is better than at any time since the republic was formed in 1911."

Strong Government Lacking

"For the past three or four years," Mr. Ross went on, "China has had practically no government that was strong enough to function. But so industrious and so peaceful are the Chinese that fundamentally there is very little difference in the trade and commerce of the country. In fact, in spite of the world-wide depression, the trade of China has been constantly increasing.

"Canada stands well in China, and Canadian goods are found in the chief centres there in greater abundance than ever before. Canadian exports of lumber to China in 1921 were 41,000,000 board feet, a very great increase over any previous year. Many other lines of goods are in demand, notably paper, food products of various kinds, butter, and manufactured goods of every description. Canada has the quickest and most efficient steamship service across the Pacific, and there is no reason why eventually China should not be the greatest outlet for Canadian manufactured goods of any country in the world."

Visiting Canadian Cities

While in Canada, Dr Ross will visit most of the chief Canadian cities with a view to meeting the manufacturers and merchants interested in trade with China.

HIS SPEECH CAUSE OF ROW.—Edwin Denby, secretary of the United States navy, who made a speech in Japan regarding the rough handling of American freight that has caused the British Chamber of Commerce in China to demand an explanation. Mr. Denby declared that in some instances American freight has been handled roughly to prejudice foreign markets against American goods.

BOWSER, LEADER OF OPPOSITION GIVEN WELCOME

Re-elected at Vancouver Liberal-Conservative Convention by Unanimous Vote

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22—Hon. W. J. Bowser, leader of the Conservative opposition in the British Columbia legislature, was re-elected leader of the party in this province at the provincial Liberal-Conservative convention here tonight. When it was announced from the platform that Mr. Bowser had secured 252 votes out of a total of 480 cast, a demonstration on the part of the delegates interrupted the reading of the vote. This demonstration was halted long enough for the reading of a formal motion by Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., that Mr. Bowser's election be made unanimous. The motion was greeted with renewed cheers and singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," during which Mr. Bowser appeared on the platform and tried to make himself heard in a brief declaration of his conviction that the convention would proceed as a unit to the business still to be transacted.

Balloting which since the seating of the delegates this afternoon, occupied their attention throughout the evening. Two other names were before the convention, those of Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., and S. L. Howe, president of the provincial branch of the Liberal-Conservative party.

The official reading of the vote follows: Bowser, 252; Stevens, 201; Howe 27.

The convention adjourned until Wednesday morning.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 22—One man lies in the general hospital seriously wounded and another is in jail as the result of a shooting affair tonight. Thomas Marshall, 22, was shot in the left side, and George Hicks, charged with the shooting, has been arrested.

C. P. R. BLAMED AS INFLUENCE IN WAGE CUT

President of Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes Makes Statement

NATIONAL LINES DANGER

Private Owned Roads Seek to Influence Management of Public System

OTTAWA, Aug. 22—(Canadian Press). — "The chief influence which is working to force down wages on the government railways, in our opinion, is the influence of the Canadian Pacific," A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employes, declared this afternoon at the session of the board of conciliation, investigating the question of wage reductions between the Canadian National railways and its lower-paid employes. Mr. Mosher expressed the belief that the greatest danger to the government-owned railways was not political interference, but the influence of the owners of private-owned roads. He said that the private owners were seeking to have the government lines run according to policies which would least interfere with the profits of their privately-owned property.

Existing Wage Schedules

In continuing the argument to uphold wage schedules as they now exist, Mr. Mosher stated that since last year a decided change for the better had taken place. The volume of traffic had increased, operating expenses were relatively lower, and the net revenue greater. These facts, the employes considered, would justify wage increases rather than decreases.

Dealing with the effect of wage reductions on freight rates, Mr. Mosher declared if the reductions in the wages of all railway employes as proposed by the managements were to be passed on in full to the public in lower freight rates, the reduction of carrying charges would not amount to more than two or three per cent. This, he believed, wuld be entirely lost to the consumer of the goods carried as a factor towards lowering the cost of living.

Public Ownership

In expressing the belief of the employes that public ownership was on trial in dealing with the issue of wage reductions, Mr. Mosher declared that the public was befogged and "maliciously deceived" by propagandists against public ownership.

The National railways had a tremendous function of national importance in opening new regions from which profits could only accrue in the future. It was therefre unfair to attempt to compare the government lines with the Canadian Pacific Railway, especially in view of the fact that the latter was firmly entrenched in a territory of higher traffic density, with subsidiary ocean lines, favorable land grants and a score of other favorable conditions and assisting facilities.

Year's Improvement

Mr. Mosher quoted statistics to show that a considerable improvement in the operation of the National railways as compared with the Canadian Pacific Railway had taken place in 1921 over 1920.

Dealing with the need of a railway wage policy, Mr. Mosher believed there was no justification for Canadian railway wages being fixed in the United States. Conditions in the two countries varied in the extreme. No policy guided the United States labor board decisions concerning wages, and Canadian wage-earners have never accepted in their entirety the United States wage decisions for application to Canadian railways.

Mr. Mosher declared that the railway managements could not be trusted to evolve a wage policy because of their disregard of the machinery set up for guidance in industrial relations.

Policy is Wanted

The government, therefore, should decide upon a policy and instruct the new management that it was to be carried out.

The employes concluded their statement at this afternoon's session. The case for the railways will be taken up at Wednesday's meeting of the board.

A. A. Crilley, of Montreal, will act as principal spokesman for the National railways.

Gas Company Has Secured Full Financial Backing; Can Carry Out Project if Council Agrees

President McAuley Explains Situation to Gas Committee.—Details Leading to Forwarding of Check for $20,000 to City.—Ask Council to Agree to Go to Utilities Commission.

"I have not the slightest doubt that this can now be satisfactorily carried out, if the city will co-operate with us," said President McAuley, of the Northern Alberta Natural Gas Development Co., when giving the special gas committee of council details of the present situation, and the matters leading up to the depositing with the city the cheque for $20,000 as a set-off against damages sustained by the city in regard to its action against the company.

After hearing the statements made by Mr. McAuley, the committee decided, upon the motion of the Mayor, to refer the whole subject to a special meeting of council, which will be called for Friday night. It is considered that the receipt of the cheque has made the situation of sufficient importance for council to meet and decide as to what action it will take and whether or not it will pass a resolution asking the utilities commissioners to fix a rate. Previously the committee passed a motion approving of a settlement along the lines such as are now being followed by the company.

The company which is now being re-organized said Mr. McAuley, is now ready to apply to the Utilities Commissioners for the fixing of a rate within 10 days after council has passed its resolution consenting to such action by the commissioners and also to deposit the $50,000 guarantee as soon as the rate was fixed.

In answer to questions as to who had now assumed the financial backing of the company, Mr. McAuley said that there was no secret in the matter. They were Chandler and Co., of Broadway, New York, Philadelphia and Boston, also the South Western Utilities Corporation, a company which operates a large number of pipe lines in Kansas.

Bond Issue

It was expected said the speaker, to obtain finances through a new bond issue and he believed that those who had put money in the field would now have to put a second security on the field in order to get it financed.

The firms mentioned, added Mr. McAuley, had now put up the money for deposit, and this would be lost if they failed to deliver. They would now put up the $50,000 within 30 days after the rate had been fixed by the board.

Chandler and Co., would be responsible for the conduct of the company's affairs in the future, if the re-organization was carried through, and both Messrs Costo and McLaws would be out of the company.

Ready to Start

If council agreed to take action now they hoped to have gas turned on by July next. It would take some four or five months for them to raise the money, but some work would be commenced immediately. The surveys would be made, the pipe ordered and laid along the right-of way in the country and also in the city.

Asked as to the rate likely to be asked for the reply was to the effect that the engineers for Chandler and Company were Ford, Bacon and Davies they had been carrying out an investigation of the field and local conditions for weeks and the rate would be determined by the results of their investigation. They were it might be said satisfied with the field and the market in sight, but could not understand the attitude of the people locally in regard to the securing or gas. Mr. E. G. Hill was the chief engineer for the company who had been carrying on investigations in the city.

There are a 100 miles of pipe to be laid in the city alone and they could start on the work as soon as the frost was out of the ground, and about 500 men would be employed, there was certain work, said Mr. McAuley, that could be done during the early months of the year, including placing the pipe on the ground.

Price of Material

Mr. McAuley drew attention to remarks that had been made to the effect that the price of pipe was going down. The people who made these contentions said the speaker, were not in possession of the facts.

It was expected, he said, that the company would lose money for the first three years on the rate asked for. They did not expect to do better than that, the only way in which the gas would pay the company would be by the establishment of industries in the city.

In answer to a question Mr. McAuley said that at a 48 cent rate the average annual bill for a family living in an eight roomed house would be $90 per year. This would include cooking and hot water heating.

The Weather

Showers have occurred in a few scattered localities of the West but the weather has been mostly fair and moderately warm.

MANITOBA REPORTS TWO FATALITIES

WINNIPEG, Aug. 22. Two fatalities were reported in Manitoba tonight. Eva Girard, 20, was killed when an automobile which she was driving at Elk, overturned. Joseph Boy was fatally injured when he fell in the pulley of a tractor on the farm of W. B Johnston, near Arnaud, becoming entangled in the chain.

U.F.A. Parliamentary Members Must Return Indemnity or be Expelled From Association

Red Deer, Alta., Aug. 22.—The storm of protest against that $250.00 indemnity that members of the Alberta legislature voted themselves for the five-day session in July when wheat board proposals were discussed continues to grow.

Following the action by the Clover Bar local, the Ridgewood local of the U.F.A. has taken a very decided stand on the matter, resolutions calling on all U.F.A. members to return $150.00 of the indemnity or to resign.

If they refuse to do either, Ridgewood local plans to demand their expulsion from the U.F.A. at the next general convention of that body.

YIELD OF WHEAT THIS YEAR NEAR RECORD OF 1915

Acreage is Much Greater Though, According to Grain Trade News

COMPARISONS GIVEN

Grade Will Be High According to Inspections Made on Winnipeg Receipts

WINNIPEG, Aug. 22—(Canadian Press). — The Grain Trade News in its weekly crop report made public here today, estimates the wheat yield of the three prairie provinces this year at 350,000,000 bushels. This compares with a total crop in the banner year of 1915 of 360,000,000 bushels. However, the total acreage in 1915 was only 13,715 acres, while this year the prairie provinces have between 20,500,000 and 21,000,000 acres down to wheat.

According to the dominion bureau of statistics estimate, based on conditions prevailing at the end of July, the prairie provinces should harvest 297,781,000 bushels. The Canadian Pacific Railway crop report issued today estimated the yield of the prairie provinces at 317,000,000 bushels.

Some idea of the high grade of this year's wheat crop can be gained from the fact that out of the 246 cars received here today, 159 graded No. 1 Northern, 13 graded No. 2 Northern and eight graded No. 3 Northern.

The Canadian National Railways crop report this week shows that the cutting of wheat is general throughout Manitoba and in many places completed and threshing has begun. Local showers have somewhat delayed harvesting operations. The yield promises to be more than average in most places. Only a few places report damage from hail, one of these being the Gladstone district, where several acres were destroyed by storm accompanied by hail.

In Saskatchewan wheat cutting is general and in some places they are threshing rye. A great many places report delay in harvesting operations owing to rain.

In Alberta harvesting operations are proceeding but in many places were delayed by rain. Prospects in both Saskatchewan and Alberta are for a fair general crop.

East Watches West

The western crop has gotten to be the Midvale Steel and Ordnance com- continually in the eastern sections of Canada and the United States. Doctor McTavish, who passed through the city on his way to the coast, states that during his recent trip through Ontario he was continually being quesioned in regard to conditions in the prairie provinces. Being in lieved in financial circles that all im western grain belt, he was able to answer queries with considerable accuracy and certainly left the impression in the east, that all was well with the west. He states that since his return, he is pleased to see that his reports to enquirers were not exaggerations of the true state of affairs.

Ontario Crop

Touching upon the Ontario crops, he states that it is the best that has been seen for many years and generally speaking bumper crops prevailed everywhere. One thing that the Ontario farmer has which will prove of great benefit to him this fall are the improved roads that are now radiating all over the province. Good roads are doing great things for Ontario. It is estimated that nearly half a million tourists from the United States travelled through the province last year and spent $90,000,000.00. From these figures it can be seen that improved highways mean employees, approximately 200,000 investment giving a 5 per cent dividend. Mr. McTavish said that the eastern towns and cities were showing signs of considerable prosperity particularly border towns and the smaller manufacturing points.

TUESDAY'S RAINFALL WILL AID GROWERS OF GRAIN IN 1923

With .05 inch of rain for the 24 hours ending Tuesday midnight, Edmonton has received ½ of an inch of precipitation in the last two days. This is what is needed for the stock raisers and dairy men, but unfortunately is making the work of the grain grower more difficult. According to Mrs. W. H. Owen, in charge of the local station of the Dominion meteorological service, the crops within twenty miles of the city, to the west, are a decided improvement upon the fields further west than this area. Unfortunately a rather large strip of grain was cut down by hail in the central portion of the province: had this not happened, it is believed that the provincial average for the district north of Red Deer would have been better than last year's.

DEATH SENTENCE IS COMMUTED

LONDON, Aug. 22 — (Canadian Press cable).—Home Secretary Shortt today commuted the death sentence passed on a young woman, the wife of a farm laborer, who was convicted jointly with her husband for the murder of a journeyman glazier. The motive of the crime was robbery and the murderers obtained only £15. The action of the home secretary is attributed to the growing sentiment against the execution of females. It is thirteen years since a woman was executed in England.

Grain Markets

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, Aug. 22—For the major part of the session today there was good buying on the local wheat market and a good volume of trade is believed to have been worked for export. Many of the trade were forced to cover up heavy short sale commitments. After a higher opening, October slumped to $1.01¼ at which figure the buying started and prices ran up to $1.02½. Trade slowed up during the last hour and prices eased off, October closing 1 cent higher; December ¼c up and May ⅝c stronger.

Private cables were stronger today and Liverpool showed a remarkable revival, closing 4¼ cents higher. There is practically no speculative interests in the trade at present and outside interests are leaving the market alone.

The oat market showed strength and a substantial advance in values was made, largely in sympathy with American markets. Other coarse grains were quiet, flax losing 4½ cents from yesterday's close.

Offerings of new crop wheat on the market this morning resulted in a break of ½ to 5c a bushel on the contract grades. Millers bought a fair amount, but exporters stayed out, claiming bids still too high. Exporters were after number 2 C.W. oats at ½c up, crushers were buying flax and there was an excellent demand for all grades of rye.

Barley, however, was unchanged.

Inspections totalled 532 cars of which 333 were wheat.

Opening futures were: Wheat—October 1¼ to ¾ higher at 102 to 101½; December 1 to ¾ higher at 99½ to ⅜; May ½ higher at 103⅜.

Oats—October ⅜ higher at 39⅜; December ¼ higher at 37⅝; May ¼ higher at 1⅝.

Flax—October 1¼ lower; December 1c down at 188.

Rye—October ½ lower at 66½; December ¼ lower at 65¼.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 22—Wheat values took an upward swing at the start here today in sympathy with advance at Liverpool. The strength in the Chicago market late yesterday was reflected on the other side of the Atlantic today and was responsible for the firmness there. There was some short covering here during the early dealings and it took but little commission house selling to make a reaction, the market easing off quickly. There was a good demand for cash wheat from the seaboard for export and some sales were reported over night, but the quantities were not given.

Receipts of wheat here today were 445,000 bushels. The opening which varied from ¼ to ⅞ higher with September 101¼ to 101⅝ and December 103 to 103¼ was followed by a slight general setback all around.

Offerings of corn were light. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to half higher, with September 59¾ to 60, was followed by a moderate decline on all deliveries.

Oats were dull. After starting at unchanged figures to ⅛ with September 31 to 31⅛ the market held close to the initial range.

Gossip on the Grain and Stock Markets

By Gillespie Grain Company Leased Wire

Grain opinions:

J. E. Bache—The buying side on breaks looks by far the safest.

J. E. Bennett—Regard the market as two sided.

Lamson—The markets will offer good trading opportunities.

Leland—Look for rather free selling on further bulge.

Stein Alstrin—Think the chances for a further substantial recovery are very good.

Bartlett Frazier—The markets closed technically weaker and think selling pressure will be met on any further rally.

Hulbard Warren Co.—There is a decided improvement in the consumptive demand, doubt, if advance will be long sustained.

Riordan, Martin & Co.—Would not buy wheat for investment.

Lowitz—With prospects of much heavier arrivals of wheat, there is no incentive for investors.

Chicago grain leter: We see no prospects for a demand sufficient to offset hedging of the winter and spring wheat crops and believe rallies such as witnessed yesterday based on shortcovering, will be only temporary.

Reactionary Trend Was Overcome in New York; Market Strong Tuesday

NEW YORK, Aug. 22—The stock market today gave another remarkable demonstration of strength, overcoming an early reactionary trend, bringing several new favorites to the front and carying more active issues to their highest prices of the year.

Five consecutive days of rising prices had resulted to a weakened technical position, which the shorts were quick to recognize.

United States Steel common, which opened at 104½, sold off to 103⅞ at the close.

Several of yesterday's leaders in the rails, notably New York Central, Chicago and Northwestern and Lehigh Valley yielded slightly today, but others, like Northern Pacific, Great Northern Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, and Chicago Great Western moved to still higher ground.

Call money opened and renewed at 3½ per cent. but hardened to 4 at the close.

MacKay was up ⅝ to 102¼.

Canada Bread sold up to 36.

Canada Cement common touched 70.

Canadian General Electric was firmer at 83½, up ½.

Mining stocks were in demand and oils were slightly easier.

Banks were moderately active.

"Oh, yes. After the quarrel started I decided that I might just as well get a new dress out of it as a mere five pound box of candy."

Responsibility For Expense of Stampede And Pageant Now Assumed by City

Members of the stampede and pageant committee met for the first time on Tuesday morning, when the question of a tentative program was gone into.

It should now be understood that no guarantee fund will be asked.

With the approval of the city council of the proposals, it carries the acceptance of the financial responsibility the city takes the loss, and also any profit if any occurs.

There is another point that also should be made clear. The pageant does not belong exclusively to the Hudson's Bay Company, other firms may be represented.

The only rule is that they should take part in the parade in order of priority of establishment of business in the city.

TWO ARE DROWNED WHEN CANOE UPSETS

Quebec, Aug. 22—Adeoda Perron, and his wife, both aged 27, of Anse St. Jean, Chicutime, were drowned in the Saguenay river on Sunday when their canoe capsized. They leave one child.

His Only Thought

Anold couple came in from the country with a big basket of lunch to see the circus. The lunch was heavy. The old wife was carrying it. As they crossed a crowded street the husband held out his hand and said, "Gimme that basket, Hannah." The poor old woman surrendered the basket with a grateful look. "That's real kind o' ye, Joshua,' she quavered. "Kind!" grunted the old man. "I was afeard ye'd get lost."

"RAIN OR SHINE OPENING"

Gyro Joy Garden is Officially Given to The Kiddies of Edmonton

Determined to have their auto parade and the official opening of Gyro Park "rain or shine," members of the Gyro Club successfully consummated that determination on Tuesday evening, with the honors breaking fairly even between rain and shine.

The weather was threatening from about 6 o'clock onwards, but notwithstanding the probability of rain myriads of cars turned out to do honor to the occasion. About 7.15 the Newsboys band, under the leadership of R. A. Bullock reported 'all correct' at the corner of 109th St. and Jasper Ave., and forthwith proceeded to enliven the dreary atmosphere with euphonius music. At 7.25 Mayor Duggan drove up, and promptly at 7.30 the huge line of cars commenced to move. Music by the band, sustained cries of joy from thousands of excited juveniles, and a continued hullaballoo of honking of horns featured the movement to the playground. Some idea of the length of the procession may be gauged from the knowledge that as the head of the parade was turning off Jasper onto Kinistino, the rear was crossing the corner of 101st Street and Jasper.

The scene at the playground will be long remembered. Children well in possession of every device with hundreds more awaiting their turn for possession. Many parents were present to participate in the opening ceremonies. These ceremonies were brief but to the point.

Bert Huff, whose unfaltering zeal on behalf of the playground has lagely made possible its rapid establishment made a few remarks in the course of which he paid eloquent tribute to the citizens of Edmonton the Mayor and city officials for standing in an unmovable line behind the Gyro Club in this project. "The citizens of Edmonton placed their trust in the Gyro Club," he said, "and the Gyro Club returns that trust in this playground." Mr. Huff pleaded for the co-operation of parents and children olike in making the playground the success it deserves to be.

Rev. C. F. A. Clough, president of the Federated Society of Community Leagues next addressed the gathering and emphasized the fact that his federation had willingly and gladly lent all possible assistance to the Gyros in this most praiseworthy effort.

Dr. McPherson, president of the Norwood and Patricia Square Community League said that he and his conferees had been behind the Gyros from the word "go" and had given material proof of their assistance in the planting of 205 trees in the park.

Charlie McDonald, president of the Gyro Club, then stepped forward and in the name of his club formally handed the park over to Mayor Duggan, on behalf of the city.

In accepting the park His Worship drew attention to the unbounded joy radiated by the countless children present. "If there is anyone present who can look at these smiling, contented children without feeling a thrill of pride, there is something wrong with that person," he said amidst much applause. His Worship lauded the Gyro Club for striking out on such a benificial line of endeavor He hoped their extmple would be emanated by other organizations in the city. The city would willingly assist societies contemplating the erection of similar parks in securing suitable plots. His Worship then struck a gong and formally declared the park open. At the signal the battalions of kiddies assumed undisputed possession of every solitary piece of equipment on the grounds, and with the Newsboys band dispensing music of the merriest kind, the evening was sent away to a flying start.

"It was sure some evening," said a very minor lad as he slowly wended his way home, tired but supremely happy.

TAXI BUMPS AUTO

A car belonging to the Veteran Taxi company bumped into a truck operated by S. F. Taylor at 8.45 o'clock Tuesday. The truck was stopped rather suddenly in the rear of a standing street car and the taxi coming behind quite slowly had not sufficient space in which to stop. No damage was sustained by the truck, but the other car received injuries to the extent of a broken lamp and radiator.

Gyros Had Jazz Music for Dinner Tuesday Luncheon

Unrestrained merriment held scepted sway at the regular meeting of the Gyro club Tuesday in the Hudsonia.

It was guest day and amongst the guests were numbered Arthur Detlon, Dewey Washington and the Imperial Five orchestra consisting of Floyd Mansfield, Leslie Crane, J. Pomeroy, B. Totten andd S. Anderson.

The Imperial Five played a series of popular hits in their very best style, and these met with the unqualified approval of the Gyros.

Dewey Washington, accompanid by the orchestra, sang "California," "Ma," and "Dapper Dan." and in so doing scored an unequivocal triumph. The Gyros were loathe to let these artists stop.

A contest for the Gyro naming all those present with the least possible delay, was awarded to B. Shaw.

Bill Dale gave a five-minute-talk on the dairy business. He said that in 1911 his firm manufactured 379,000 lbs. of butter, and in 1920 that figure had grown to 3,000,000 lbs. The total amount of cream purchased in 10 years numbered 1,048,679 cans. To transport such a quantity would require 104 trains of 20 cars each, each car containing 500 cream cans. This amount of cream manufactured 29,976,428 lbs. of butter and to transport this 52 trains of 20 refrigerator cars each would be required. Mr. Dale said that in 1929 Alberta produced 12,000,000 lbs. of butter as compared with 230,000,000 produced in Wisconsin, the heavist producing state in the United States. Alberta is five times as large as Wisconsin.

Walcott Cashman gave a talk on his business, in the course of which he traced its growth and expansion. This was a particularly interesting discussion on an all too little known subject.

BUY WESTERN GOODS SLOGAN B. C. FRUIT MEN

Prairies Are Putting Up Cash for Product from Coast Province

"Buy western grown products" is the slogan of British Columbia fruit growers this year according to P. C. Hiles, manager of the Acme Fruit company, who is a visitor in the city for the present. All later small fruits with the exception of peaches are being taken in abundance from B. C. orchards and are well fitted to supply the prairie provinces. Some peaches will have to be brought in from American points, but the recent rains have brought other fruits along in excellent style and there are plenty for all. The drought experienced in the year caused a shortage in raspberries, strawberries and the various currants, but the showers of the past two weeks have brought such a profusion of these berries that prospects for a plentiful supply are much brighter.

He was very antagonistic to the recent propoganda that urged the superiority of Washington and Oregon fruits and berries. The careful packing and handling that is now carried out by Canadian growers and packers associations, will soon prove to the consumer that any inferiority that British Columbia grown products appeared to possess was due to careless handling after the crop was taken. Particularly in regard to apples, is the home grower at a market disadvantage, as the public are convinced that the coast product has a far tougher skin. Before infusion and cross work was experimented with in the province, Mr Hiles admitted the fruit was tougher, but since these processes have become general throughout the various districts Canadian apples compare very favorably with American varieties.

MOTHER IS HOMICIDE AND SUICIDE

Swimming Pool Stories

TWO FUNNY THINGS THAT HAPPENED AT THE CITY'S POPULAR BATHING RESORT.

Mayor Duggan related two good swimming pool stories to the gas committee of Tuesday.

The other night the caretaker was making his rounds when all had gone, and in the boys' dressing room, hanging up, he discovered the suit and usual articles of clothing worn by a little boy.

His heart gave a jump, for Mr. Crooker had a vision of a little body lying still at the bottom of the bath. It was the work of an instant to jump in the water, and diving under, he searched all over he bottom, and was eventually made more happy by the fact that he had found nothing.

Coming out he looked all around the premises, but there was no trace of any lad, and, finally, he went back and serched through the clothes hoping to find some trace of the lad's identity.

He did find a name there and it was not long before he got into touch with the family, who did not live so very far away from the pool.

"Had they seen anything of the boy," he asked.

"Certainly," was the answer, "here he is."

"How about his clothes" was then asked. "Oh, that's all right," was the answer of the lad himself when questioned about them. "I am going back there first thing in the morning, so I did not think it worth while to put them on."

This is the other story.

The caretaker was very much concerned, and was afraid he had offended.

There were four men looking around the ladies' dressing room, and the caretaker, as a part of his duties went up and warned them away, reproaching them for playing "peek-a-boo" around the ladies' quarters.

"Do you know who they are?" said a bystander to him, as the caretaker went on his way. "They are some of the city aldermen! !"

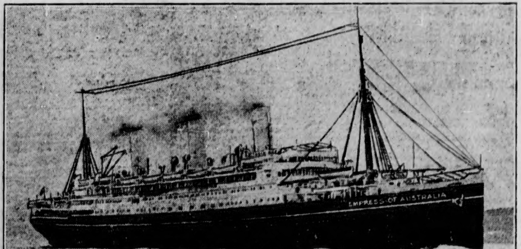
The mayor, in relating the story, said that he had not so far suspected that the aldermen were claiming any special privileges along this line.

FIELDING TO ATTEND GENEVA MEETING

QUEBEC, Aug. 22 — Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of marine and fisheries, left today on the Empress of Scotland to attend the meeting of the League of Nations at Geneva.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Sir Thomas Brock, the sculptor, died today. Sir Thomas Brock was born in 1847. Among his better known works are "The Moment of Peril," "The Genius of Poverty," "Eve," and the "Queen Victoria Memorial" in front of Buckingham Palace.

Developing Canada's Oriental Trade



With its fleet of fast-moving, luxuriously fitted steamers, trans-continental express train services, and chain of palatial hotels, the Canadian Pacific Company have laid an easy highway around the world, and another link between West and East has been established by the magnificent new steamer "Empress of Australia," which recently joined the trans Pacific service from Vancouver to Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Shanghai, Manila and Hong-Kong.

The "Empress of Russia" and "Empress of Asia" are already well known on the Pacific Ocean, and accommodation on these steamers has always been difficult to obtain owing to their popularity. With the addition of the still larger steamers, "Empress of Canada" and 'Empress of Australia," sailings from Vancouver will now be so frequent as to provide in conjunction with the Canadian Pacific Atlantic Empresses a fortnightly through service from Europe. It is now recognized that the Canadian Pacific route to the Orient is quite as easy for the traveller as the all-sea routes, and is, of course, much shorter. Yokohama is reached from Britain in less than three weeks, and Hong Kong in four weeks.

The "Empress of Australia" is the biggest commercial vessel to pass through the Panama Canal. The vessel is 588 feet in length, 75 feet in breadth, 46 feet 3 inches in depth to upper deck, and of about 21,500 tons gross. She is of the shelter deck type, with a continuous bridge above, extending the full length of the ship, and the lower and upper promenade decks fully half the length. She has a straight stem, an elliptical stern, three funnels, and two masts, and has a very beautiful appearance. She has splendid accommodation for 400 first class, 165 second class, 360 third class, and 670 Asiatic steerage passengers, and a crew of about 520. The first class dining saloon (with accommodation for 370 sitters), the first class ladies' room, the first class smoke room, and the first class writing room are all decorated in the Louis XVI. style; the first class lounge in the Empire style, and the swimming bath in the Pompeiian style, while there are also a first class card room, a verandah cafe, a children's room, an electric bath, a splendid entrance hall and ladies' and gentlemen's hairdressing rooms — these and all the staterooms being furnished and decorated in the most comfortable and tasteful manner. The vessel is propelled by two sets of Curtis-Parsons turbines, driving twin screws through Fottinger hydraulic transformer gear, indicating about 18,000 s.h.p., and giving the vessel a service speed of 17 knots. Steam is supplied by 14 water tube boilers each fitted with three furnaces, and having a working pressure of 240 lbs. The vessel is an oil burner.

Since 1886 the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Pacific Steamships have been making record after record on the Pacific and are now many miles in the lead of other steamship and transporation concerns operating on the Pacific.

The year 1887 saw the establishment of a regular trans-Pacific service, with three chartered steamships, the Batavia, the Parthia, and the Abyssinia. The latter's first outbound cargo consisted of 40 tons of freight. Three years later, in July, 1890, the Canadian Pacific concluded a contract with the British Government providing for a small subsidy of £60,000 a year, with the services of three twin-screw steamships between Vancouver, Japan, and China. To fulfil the terms of this contract, the Empress of India, the Empress of China, and the Empress of Japan were specially built. These steamers were of about six thousand tons each, gross register, and began their work in 1891.

With the arrival of the Empress of Australia, the company inaugurates a service whereby a steamer will leave Vancouver every two weeks for the Orient.

Some of the Canadian Pacific ships on the Pacific now are:

	Tons.
Empress of Canada	22,500
Empress of Australia	21,400
Empress of Asia	16,907
Empress of Russia	16,810
Empress of Japan	5,940
Monteagle	6,163

GOLD AND COAL ARE FOUND IN SUDBURY AREA

Anthracite In Its Purest Form Discovered in Commercial Quantities

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug., 22—"After making a survey of over 100 square miles in the Chelmsford and Larchwood area, we have come to the definite conclusion that there is anthracite coal in commercial quantities in the Sudbury district, A. F. A. Coyne the well-known geologist informed a largely attended meeting of the board of trade here this evening.

Mr. Coyne produced samples of the prest kind of coal which have been collected over an area 100 miles square. During the last few days, farmers have been chopping up the rocks an their farms and have found coal at a depth of 18 inches.

Today, work was commenced by a mining gang near the station at Chelmsford with the object of striking a bed of anthracite coal.

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug., 22—What is considered to be one of the most sensational finds of gold ever made in the Sudbury district is on exhibition here. It is a piece of rock about 16 inches in length and 8 inches thick and pure gold is easily visible. It was found a few days ago, about 40 miles north of this town.

MOUNTED POLICE HEAR OF MUCH NEW TRAGEDY

Trapper With Fair Estate Lost in Waters Beyond Fort Wrigley

Not for many months has the Northern Alberta headquarters Royal Canadian Mounted Police had such tragedies reported as have come in by the recent mail from the Arctic R.C.M.P. posts. Alex. Jonson was reported missing in January last beyond Fort Wrigley. He had a lonely trapping and prospecting camp on the shores of the great Mackenzie. He was well to do and possessed a first class equipment and stores. All with the exception of a boat, which was said by those who knew it to have been dangerous even to have sailed on a lake. Jonson went to Wrigley last fall, and had promised a trapper in the vicinity named Hedland that he would leave anything for him that might be waiting for him at Wrigley. On his return a note was left by Jonson stating he had nothing for Hedland. Later that night Hedland thought he heard the barking of a wolverine on the opposite shore of the river and saw a fire. He was not sure whether there was a man shouting or not.

After the ice had set, Hedland went went across the river and found that Jonson was missing. There were no signs of him having been around, and so he notified the Mounted Police.

Sergt. Clay, in making his investigations, learned that Jonson's boat had not been seen by other trappers for several months, and he came to the conclusion, after hearing other evidence, that Jonson must have been washed down the river.

No relatives of Jonson are known. He has several hundred dollars, and the estate is in the hands of the public administrator for the North-West Territories.

Indicative of the thoroughness of the "Mounties" is the laconic statement which might serve in years to come to solve what otherwise would be a mystery: "Should Jonson's remains be found, he could be identified by a screw remaining in the upper jaw from which a porcelain tooth had become detached."

Prospectors Missing

Two prospectors named A. Warburton and Frank Keeley are also reported missing by the R.C.M.P. Last year the men went into the Mackenzie river district to locate oil claims near Fort Norman. On their return from that point to Whitehorse Yukon, they appear to have come to grief, as they have not been heard of since.

Keeley is an old and very well-known prospector throughout the north-west. His peculiar, quiet nature was often commented upon by those who met him. No subject, unless it was the beauties of nature in the wilderness, could ever tempt him into a discussion. He was an expert canoeman and considered to be a good all-round traveller.

He was well-known in Prince Albert, where he always stayed with Jack Leonard at the New Windsor Hotel. Keeley was invariably dressed in corduroy pants, belt, his shirt open at the throat and a black handkerchief around his neck.

Seen by Indians

The men were last seen on the Twitya river by Indians, and according to the report of the Mounted Police, "it would seem that these men realized trey were travelling up the wrong river, and on going back over their trail were overtaken by the breaking up of mountain streams and were possibly drowned." The men were thought to have gone through the ice on the Gravel river, as a prospector named John O. Olsen had said he had gone through the ice several times about the time the men were last seen. The river is very narrow and swift, running through a canyon, out of which it is impossible to climb. And with the season opening unusually early, the men had been caught and washed away into the torrent.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police are very anxious to discover relatives of the missing men, and would apreciate any information which might lead to finding addresses of anyone who were acquainted with either Keeley or Warburton.

AMERICAN STEEL MILLS ANNOUNCE WAGE INCREASE

News Came as Surprise to Financial District and Slightly Depresses Shares

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Three big United States Steel Corporations, employing normally nearly 300,000 workers, today announced a 20 per cent. wage increase for all day laborers in their manufacturing plants. The United States Steel Corporation took the lead, but was quickly followed by the trade barometer that is watched pany and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

The Bethlehem Corporation and the Crucible Steel Corporation have taken no action but it is generally be touch with authorities all over the portant independent steel firms would increase within a few days.

News of the increase came as a surprise to the financial district probably because wage adjustments in other industries have been generally downward. It was followed by slight recessions in the prices of steel shares.

No explanation of the increase was given by the steel corporations. However, it is known that the immigration law has cut off the supply of unskilled workers which formerly drifted to the iron and steel centres. Resumption of coal mining and the increasing demand for laborers in other industries, combined with the expected business revival this fall, is reported to have caused apprehension among mill managers who feared that the higher wages elsewhere would cause sufficient desertions to hamper their operations.

The United States Steel Corporation the equivalent of a $1,800,000,000.00 men, of whom 156,000 are affected by the wage increase, the 64,000 in the mining and transportation departments being excluded. The increase will swell the company's pay roll by $35,000,000 on the basis of "full time." The increase will bring the rate for day labor up to 36 cents an hour. The present rate is 30 cents an hour.

The Daily Poem

OPEN ONCE IN A WHILE

Once in a while the sun shines out
And the arching skies are a perfect blue;
Once in a while 'mid clouds of doubt,
Faith's fairest stars come peeping through;
Our paths lead into the meadows fair,
Where the sweetest blossoms nod and smile;
And we lay aside our cross of care—
Once in a while.

Once in a while in the desert sand,
We find a spot of fairest green.
Once in a while from where we stand
The hills of Paradise are seen.
And a perfect joy in our hearts we hold.
A joy that the world cannot defile;
We trade earth's dross for purest gold
Once in a while.

Tirade Against English University Delegates Stirs Canadian Woman

OTTAWA, Aug., 22—"Where has she been living, that she should be ignorant that smoking among women in England and on the continent has long been a common practice?" asked Mrs. W. J. Sykes, of Ottawa, today of Mrs. W. T. Hallam, wife of Prof. Hallam, principal of Emmanuel College, Saskatoon. Mrs. Hallam, who has just returned from a trip to England, and the continent, expressed indignation in Toronto recently regarding a growing coarseness in English women. She was disgusted, she said, at their smoking and elevated feet.

Mrs. Sykes, a McGill graduate and wife of a well known librarian, attended meetings of the Paris conference of university women, having that privilage as a graduate, though she was not a delegate.

"I am not undertaking a propaganda for those who smoke or against smoking, but at the meeting I attended I saw no smoking. Nor did I observe any of the coarseness of which Mrs. Hallam complains. In fact, I found the English women very much like our Canadians and Americans.

"As for the conference no discussion of affairs of home and children, it must be pointed out that the great majority of members present were self-supporting women either unmarried or widows or married women without children. It might safely be said that no more than one percent possessed home or children. It is not surprising, then, that these subjects were not discussed."

Woman Offers To Buy Husband From Another Woman

San Francisco, Aug. 21—An offer by Mrs. Edith Huntington Spreckles Wakefield, first wife of the late Jack Spreckles, California miner and herself prominent in San Francisco society, to "buy" another woman's husband from her for $100 a month for the rest of her life, came to light here today and is admitted by all persons involved.

The husband whom Mrs. Wakefield is credited with having offered to "buy" is Rodney Kendrick, a newspaper artist. The wife who is ill and admits she is "considering" the offer, said today she already had given her wedding ring to Mrs. Wakefield. Mrs. Wakefield said she too planned a divorce.

Pleased to Meet Him

A house-hunter saw an advertisement in the papers describing a charming house "within a stone's throw of the station."

He made an appointment and in due course was escorted to the house in question, two miles away.

When they reached the threshold, he turned to the agent "Would you mind introducing me?" he whispered, "to the person who threw that stone?"

A BACHELOR'S PRAYER

Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight!
Give us a maiden with skirts not so tight;
Give us a girl whose charms, many or few,
Are not so exposed by too much peek-a-boo

Give us a maiden, no matter what age,
Who won't use the street for a vaudeville stage;
Give us a girl not sharply in view
Dress her in skirts the sun won't shine through.

Give us the dances of days long gone by,
With plenty of clothes and steps not so high;
Oust turkeytrot capers and buttermilk glides,
The hurdy-gurd twist and wiggle-tail slides.

Then let us feast our tired optics once more
On a genuine woman as sweet as of yore;
Yes, Time, please turn backward and grant
For God's richest blessing—but not one undressed.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

(By Helen Kendall.)

FINAL MINUTES' REST

One of the things that wearies the housewife most is the everlasting keeping-at-it.

"But there isn't any end to it—you just have to be on the go all day long, if you even keep up with things," cries the young home-maker who does her own work, has two or three babies and tries to keep house daintily without confusion. "No matter how tired you are, you don't dare stop, or you will get hopelessly behind. There's just so much to be done; and if you let anything go, you simply have to catch up with it later, when it has occumulated past belief."

Have you tried the "five minutes' rest" scheme for getting through a smooth day's work without dropping from fatigue? I think it is infinitely better than a solid hour's rest when you have let yourself get so exhausted that only a night's sleep would really restore you.

Every half hour or so drop whatever you are doing (unless it is a glass dish or a boiled custard) and go outside somewhere and sit down quietly for five minutes. If possible go away from the house to a seat under a tree. Let your body and your mind relax; look up at sky through the luminous green leaves, listen to the insects at theih serene humming forget that you have anything to do or ever had anything to do.

You have no idea how long and blessed a time five minutes can seem when you are quietly bathing in every moment of it. The hot kitchen, the unmade beds, the darning basket, the waiting dishes all give place to the peace of the sunshine, the calm green grass, the flowers along the border. Five minutes later, and you can go back and finish your task with fresh vigor; you'll be equal to it again.

If you are the kind of woman who has what I call the "passion for finishing" a sort of frenzy of completing what you have begun, then take your five minutes rest after each task. Do the dishes then rest five minutes. Do the bedroom work then rest five minutes. Sweep and dust one room, then rest five minutes, and to the next room or the veranda, and rest after that.

Unique Interpretation of Straight Lines

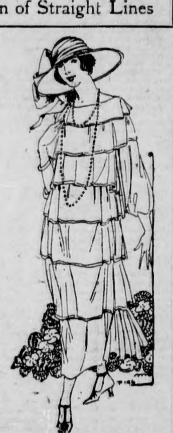
(Eleanor Gunn).

The vogue for crepe dresess which has swept America from coast to coast and also flooded Paris with crepe for all occasions, seems to be stronger than ever here, although those returning from abroad say that certain crepes are passe there and that chiffons with a slightly crinkled surface are replacing crepe as we know it here.

Exit the crepe gown, and it naturally follows that the soft type of dress which is at present in demand, will exist with it. The average drapery and fabric treatments popular today, are those which have resulted from the use of crepe de chine and similar fabrics. Even the cloth gown must have soft lines, and nothing which does not lend itself to wrapping the figure or softly following it, is even considered. One can hardly imagine a dress such as is illustrated made of a fabric with body enough to prevent its softly draping the figure. Unbelted, and all but shapeless, it depends upon the flexibility of the figure and the fabric to make it wearable, and it was worn by a very great lady at a recent function for royalty. It is a curious interpretation of a straight line model, and presumably we are in for another season of line, which is as straight as close draperies can make it.

The fall openings that have so far taken place in this country point to a silhouette that is almost sheathlike in its draping around the body, with a considerable width in the skirt, however. This is in some instances, gained by means of circular cut panels let into either side of the skirt, and there are some skirts entirely cut the circular way of the cloth, and of course it is no news to say that skirts are to be longer. There is no prescribed length, for hemlines are so uneven with their draped points, that a height from the floor at one point is seldom the same as that at any other. Naturally, also, the length of the skirt for street wear, differs from that for evening.

All of these details offer interesting suggestions for new lingerie which of course takes its cue from outer apparel. The combination of more or less novelty character, with pleated side panels let into a plain body, perhaps in a contrasting silhouette in vogue, and the circular cut chemise and drawers of oldtime suggestion can be of use.



Day frocks maintain much the same low bloused bodice of the season past, and even costumes show a more closely fitting bodice like a basque, but fitting easily instead of closely.

The waistline is a movable affair and this means that the clothing worn beneath the gown should have a most indefinite waist line if any and should be plain and flat around the upper part of the body to offer the least possible detection from the effect of the frock draping.—Copyright 1922 Fairchild.

AGREEMENT MADE FOR SETTLING OF ILLINOIS STRIKE

Renewal Made of 1922 Wage Scale In Accordance With Cleveland Agreement

Chicago, Aug. 22—An agreement to settle the Illinois coal strike was reached this afternoon by the subcommittee of Illinois operators and the miners' executive here.

The settlement plan is simply a renewal of the 1922 wage contract, which is in accord with the recent Cleveland agreement for settlement of the general strike which began April 1, last.

Although the settlement plan had not been signed, the leaders in the sub-committee conference were agreed that the ratification of the agreement would not be long delayed.

Real Sympathy

The young wife entered the kitchen rather nervously and, after hesitating a few seconds, said to the cook:

"Oh, cook, I must really speak to you. Your master is always complaining. One day he objects to the soup, and the next day it is the fish, and the third day it is the roast; in fact it is always something or other."

The cook replied with feeling:

"Well, ma'am, it must be awful to live with a gentleman like that."

The reason so many people find fault is, because nobody wants it.

LANARKSHIRE MINERS WANT SATURDAY IDLE

London, Aug. 22—Lanarkshire miners are hostile to the proposal to make the working week six days. They prefer Saturday as an idle day. Though the proprietors following a brisk demand for their output, have arranged for six days work a week. Pickets have been posted in several districts to prevent work being done on Saturday. Nevertheless many pits are busy.

The entire region radiating from Jasper is fertile in scenic and historic interest and whether one travels on foot or on horseback, by motor or pack train, new wonders are constantly unfolding to the eye.

Undoubtedly it needed only proper accommodation to bring Jasper Park to the fore among the mountain resorts of America. Now that the Canadian National Railways have provided that in the erection of Jasper Park Lodge, visitors from all parts of the world will be coming to this wonderland of the north country. The railways have not only chosen an ideal spot for the camp itself, but it is most desirably located as the starting point for expeditions of all sorts. Edmonton visitors to Jasper Park will need no introduction to the various trips which may be made from the camp and the interesting points nearby. One can recall the splendid panoramic view of the surrounding mountains and valleys which is obtained from the tops of Mount Tekarra and the Whistlers.

The awe-inspiring magnitude and force of Maligne Canyon and Gorge is a memorable sight to all and loses none of its fascination by repeated visits. The entire trip from the Lodge to the Canyon is a most pleasing one passing as it does several lakes of emerald hue and revealing, from time to time, a bird's-eye view of the main valley of the Athabasca. On the far shores of Lake Edith may be seen the log cottages which form the nucleus of the Artists' colony organized and founded, by Miss Agnes Laut in 1920. To the northwest of the lodge, on through the village of Jasper lie several lakes which afford good sport for the fisherman, the better known being Pyramid Lake at the foot of Pyramid Mountain, noted for its beauty, and Caledonia Lake famous for its yield of trout. Within five or ten minutes walk from the camp, are the remains of an old Indian sweat-house, a relic of the early days and from this plateau, overlooking the Athabasca, may be seen the former camp of the Moberleys in the distance. Towards the lower end of Lac Beauvert, an industrious family of beavers have built themselves a home and visitors on the lake, drifting about in a canoe in the cool of the evening, are sure to catch a glimpse of this little company of workers.

With its magnificent scenery and variety of other interesting features, and lying as it does, within a few hours travel from Edmonton, it is ont surprising that Jasper Park is rapidly developing into a recreation centre for Edmontonians.

The Culprit

One evening in the city of Manchester, when a water inspector was going his round, he stopped at one of the mains in a busy street to turn off the water owing to some repairs. He had just put the handle on the top and began turning when a hand was placed on his shoulder by a tipsy gentleman, who said in a drunken tone: "So I have found you at last, have I? You that's turning the street 'round, is it?"

RULE TO PREVENT HEAVY DEFENCE IN HOCKEY

HOCKEY MOGULS DESIGN REGULATION TO MAINTAIN AGGRESSIVENESS IN GAME

Western Canada League Champions Play Final Series for Stanley Cup Against Winners Between National and Coast Leagues.—Final Series Must be Played in Vancouver on Account of Artificial Ice.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—The coast will be the scene of two play-offs in professional hockey next spring. This was the decision arrived at today when the coast moguls and those of the Western Canada League concluded their conference here.

Champions of the National Hockey League are due to play the coast series winners in whichever city in successful and following this the title winners of the Western Canada League will play the winners for the world's honors. This series, they say, must be played in Vancouver, where at least some of the prairie players have had experience. The reason for staging the games here is that there will be no ice either on the prairies or in the east by the time the final series gets under way.

New Rule

In adopting a uniform rule of play for both leagues, the promoters agreed to a clause drafted by Frank Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast league, which will limit the number of players remaining on the defence at any stage to three in addition to the goal tender. It reads as follows:

"It shall be illegal for any team to use more than a three-man defence, exclusive of the goal-keeper. When not checking back all other players must at all times be advancing toward their opponents' goal or have the puck actually in play, and standing shall not be done by them between centre ice and their opponents' blue line. Any violation of this rule shall be subject to a penalty of two minutes and the puck shall be faced off from centre ice."

The following is the official schedule drawn up for the inter-league series between the Pacific coast and Western Canada League teams:—

Dec. 18—Regina at Vancouver.
Dec. 20—Regina at Seattle.
Dec. 22.—Regina at Victoria.
Jan. 3—Vancouver at Calgary.
Jan. 5—Vancouver at Edmonton.
Jan. 8—Vancouver at Saskatoon.
Jan. 10—Vancouver at Regina.
Jan. 10—Calgary at Seattle.
Jan. 12—Calgary at Victoria.
Jan. 15—Calgary at Vancouver.
Jan. 19—Seattle at Calgary.
Jan. 22—Seattle at Edmonton.
Jan. 24—Seattle at Saskatoon.
Jan. 26—Seattle at Regina.
Jan. 26—Edmonton at Victoria.
Jan. 29—Edmonton at Vancouver.
Jan. 31—Edmonton at Seattle.
Feb. 14—Saskatoon at Seattle.
Feb. 16—Saskatoon at Victoria.
Feb. 19—Saskatoon at Vancouver.
Feb. 19—Victoria at Edmonton.
Feb. 21—Victoria at Regina.
Feb. 23—Victoria at Saskatoon.

RIVAL CHAMPS IN GOLF WORLD IN 3 MATCHES

Walter Hagen, British Champion and Gene Sarazen, U. S. Champ to Play Series

Important golfing events remaining on the schedule for this year are:

The national amateur championship to be played at the Brookline, Mass., country club, beginning September 2.

The woman's national championship to be played at White Sulphur Springs in October.

The best two in three matches in which Walter Hagen, match play champion of American professionals, will meet Abe Mitchell, match play champion of Great Britain.

The best two in three matches in which Walter Hagen, British open golf champion, will meet Gene Sarazen, American open golf champion, for what will be an [illegible] world's championship.

Officials of the Royal and Ancient of St Andrews and of the United States Golf association could not sanction and give official recognition to a world's championship match between Hagen and Sarazen but golfers everywhere are greatly interested in this contest, and it will be played in October, with the first match in Pitts[illegible] and the second at the Westchester Biltmore Country club, at Rye, New York.

Yearly Event

Now that exhibition golf is a fad and provides players everywhere with an opportunity of seeing the champions in action, a yearly match between the winner of the British and American open championships is likely to become one of the regular fixtures of the golfing season.

The British amateur golf team is now in America prepared for the championship at Brookline. Roger Wethered and Cyril Tolley, who crossed the water in 1920 to play in the amateur championship at the Engineers' club, are members of the invited team. American golfers are glad to have the British players here, but eager for an American amateur to retain the title won last year by Jesse Guilford at St. Louis.

The amateur championship at Brookline and the woman's championship at White Sulphur will be the last in which the steel shafted golf clubs will be barred, according to those close to the United States Golf association. By next golfing season the United States Golf association is expected to change its ruling which prohibits the use of these shafts in championships.

The steel shafts are being so widely used and are such an economy to the game that players everywhere are anxious to have the United States Golf association recognize them officially. They are only barred now from the threee national championships and next year will undoubtedly see them figuring in the battles for the American titles.

Officials of the United States Golf association have been convinced that there is nothing mechanical in the steel shafts, and because of the growing scarcity of good hickory the great economy in steel shafts will remove all obstacles which tend to injure the general use of the clubs. The United States association is always eager to bring about a reduction in the cost of golf.

Doubles Tournament Advances to Third Stage for U. S. Title

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 22 — Play worthy of a championship marked the advance to the third round today of the United States doubles title tournament in which representatives of four countries are contending.

The Spanish Davis Cup team of M. Alonzo and Count de Gomar, was eliminated by the internationalists, R. N. William II. and W. M. Washburn in straight sets. The scores were 6-4, 6-1, 6-2.

Essaying two matches each, the Australian team of G. L. Patterson and P. O'Hara Wood and the U. S. combination of W. Johnson and W. Johnston did two days' work in one and were credited with good jobs well done, in straight set victories.

Other survivors were the present champions, W. T. Tilden II., Vincent Richards and the Kinsey brothers, Robert and Howard, Pacific Coast championship holders.

TWO PLAYERS GO UP

SPORT COMMENT

Rugby in Saskatchewan seems to be in a flourishing condition and that is a decided contrast to conditions which exist in Alberta. Edmonton is making preparations for the coming season but there seems to be an absolute lack of action in Calgary. In fact Calgary seems to have quit cold. This, of course, is nothing new for the southern city. A shining example of the same thing was given in baseball this year.

Rugby, however, is a different matter. Last year Edmonton had a great rugby team. This year there was earlier in the season, every prospect that it would be an even better one but if Calgary drops out of the game, well, it puts the skids on the opportunity for the Eskimos to repeat last year's effort.

There seems to be a complete lack of enterprise in Calgary. Up to date not a single effort has been made to get their team going. When President Joe Driscoll of the Alberta Rugby Union was in Calgary recently he attempted to hold a meeting but it was a complete failure. The Calgary club failed to have representatives present and the result was that nothing was done towards getting the game started this fall.

If Alberta goes without rugby this fall the responsibility can be placed on Calgary.

The annual meeting of the Alberta Branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada is due to be held during the course of the next two months. For the past two years the meeting has been held in Southern Alberta and the governors from Northern Alberta have had to spend their time and money travelling. This year, despite objections from Calgary, it is to be hoped it will be held in Edmonton. In fact if it is not held in the north there is likely to be a very slim representation from these parts.

With the summer holidays in the schools coming to a close the boys who are in the summer camps will be returning to the city and the lacrosse practices be resumed. During the spring season the boys made much progress despite the fact that they were handicapped by lack of sticks. Another two months this fall should develop a sufficint number of young lacrosse players to make a good junior league possible next spring. Another effort will be made to secure sticks for the boys so that as many as possible can be tranied in the great Canadian national game.

Today at Taber the Red Sox and the team representing that town meet in the first two games of a five-game series to decide the provincial amateur baseball championship. The remaining three games will be played in Edmonton later. Edmonton is represented this year by probably the best amateur team this city ever possessed. Manager Godson has secured a well balanced lineup of athletes who know how to play the game. If they succeed in disposing of Taber they should worthily represent Alberta in the Dominion playoff.

Two of the divisions in the football league have been finished and the Charity Shield and Dragoons cup are in full swing. Tonight the Callies and Vets meet in the shield series at Diamond Park and it should be an interesting battle. There has been some changes made in the direction of the Vets' club and those now in authority are hopeful of getting the team going right again.

The inter-league series between the coast league and the Western Canada league as proposed for hockey this winter is a new departure in Canadian sport. It possesses many features which will appeal to the fans. Each of the coast league teams will be seen in each of the Prairie cities once during the scheduled season and each of the prairie teams plays once in each coast city. At the end of the season there is, of course, the inter-league playoff in the Stanley cup series. The prospect of seeing the coast league teams during their playing season and the opportunity of having a test of strength before the final playoff are two things that will appeal to the fans. The games should prove big drawing cards and should break the monotony of the Western Canada league playing season. The seris of inter-league games although appearing long on paper will not to any great extent effect the playing schedule of either league as there is ample time between visits to play their usual number of games. Only one feature of the plan fails to appeal. That is when the home team visits the coast it will be away for more than a week.

Little Lessons —for— THE GOLFER

By GEORGE O'NEIL

CLIP AND SAVE THESE

One of the soundest golf drivers in the game in America is the boy wonder of Atlanta, Babby Jones who was trained by Stewart Maiden, the pro who is now with the St. Louis Country Club. Today's picture shows the top of Jones' swing. The illustration with tomorrow's article will show the finish of the drive. Watch for it.

Stand up fairly well. Use the three quarter stroke if you want to with the jigger. Watch the execution of the shot. Keep the body still and swing almost entirely with the clubhead and arms. Elbows in and hit towards your object. You must feel the little break of the wrists. Brace back on the knee, go forward with the follow through. Hit the ball distinctly. Don't be jerky at the wrists. Always think of hitting before starting the second quarter of your jigger shot. I try to think of the swing in halves, and not to start the second half until the first has been completed

Eleven Starters for Power Boat Contests

DETROIT, Aug., 22—Eleven starters including one from Hamilton, Ont, are assured for the twentieth annual race for the gold challenge cup of the American Power Boat Association, to be held during the regatta here September 1, 2, 3, and 4, it was announced last night by officials of the association upon expiration of the time limit for entering. The possibility that a few others might be entered was seen as applications for entry placed in the mails today will be honored, it was announced.

All entrants are runabouts of not less than twenty six feet water line length, five feet minimum beam and are equipped with engines not to exceed 625 cubic inches. A speed of between 40 and 45 miles an hour is probable, it is announced.

The race will be three heats of thirty miles each around a two and one half mile course.

Burgess Started Try For Channel Swim But Conditions Adverse

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 22.—T. W. Burgess, the Englishman who swam the English channel in 1911, today again essayed the feat, starting from the French shore to cross to England. He had to give up in mid-channel, however. Jean Michael, a Frenchman, also started the swim but failed.

DOVER, England, Aug. 22.—When T. W. Burgess, the Englishmon who swam the English Channel in 1911, undertook today, despite the unpromising outlook and the temperature and the tide, to repeat his performance from the French side, Jean Michel, a Frenchman, also started.

The attempt of Burgess is considered one of remarkable daring and courage, as he is more than 50 years old and has had little preliminary training.

Miss Lillian Rose Perkins of London is soon to try and exceed the woman's channel endurance record of 10 hours and 45 minutes. This record is held by Mrs. Hilda Willing of England.

SUTHERLAND WINS TITLE AT MOOSEJAW

Turns in Another Card of 78 and is One Up on Church of Winnipeg.

MOOSE JAW, Aug. 22. — D. Sutherland, professional golf champion of Alberta, captured the open championship of Saskatchewan here today after a hard battle against "Jack" Cuthbert, Winnipeg amateur. Sutherland duplicated his performance of the opening day of the tournament, turning in another card of 78 for an aggregate, on the 36 holes, of 156. Cuthbert with a 78 yesterday was weak on his putting in the first nine holes of today's play, and his final card of 79 left him one stroke off Sutherland's pace. Churchs Regina, was in third place with a total of 159 and Kinnear, Saskatoon professional, and H. Bruce, amateur title-holder, were fourth with 160.

The course record was broken this morning. T. G. Tyrer, Regina, and S. J. Thorburn, Regina, both topped the old record with 76's for the morning round and C. P. Church, Regina, equalled the old record with a 77.

LARGE ENTRY EXPECTED AT BLUE BONNETS

Montreal Jockey Club Making Arrangements for Annual Fall Meeting

Louis Angevine, secretary of the Montreal Jockey Club motored down to Saratoga Springs on Saturday to do some missionary work for the impending fall meeting at Blue Bonnets, September 2 to 9 inclusive, which will be marked by renewals of the Hochelaga handicap, $2,000 added, six furlongs, 2 year olds; Lord Byng handicap, $3,500 added, mile and a quarter, 3 year olds and over; Hendrie Memorial steeplechase, $2,000 added about two miles and a half, 4 years old and over; Bartlett McLennan steeplechase handicap, $2,00 added, about two miles and a half, 4 years old and over; Provincial Nursery, $1,500 added, five furlongs, for Quebec bred 2 year olds; King's Plate, $2,500 added, one mile and a quarter, also for Quebec bred horses.

Mr. Angevine said that there would be a couple of overnight handicaps of $2,000 added run in the course of the meeting. The minimum purse will be $1,000. He has decided that the ordinary steeplechases shall be open to 3 year olds, there being many promising jumpers of that age in the American and Canadian stables that will support the Blue Bonnets meeting.

There is a strong possibility that upward of one hundred and fifty horses of various ages will go from Saratoga to Montreal for the Blue Bonnets meeting and the session of seven days at Dorval Park that will follow it.

Among the Americans who have declared their intention of shiping are James W. Healey, Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, Ralph Beaver Strassburger, of Philadelphia, Edward F. Whitney, William H. Rowe, etc., Bud Fisher, of Mutt and Jeff celebrity, likewise, has announced that he will send four or five horses although the majority of his thoroughbreds will race at Belmont Park through the first week of September. Mr. Fisher has not picked his prospective Canadian invaders, but it is likely that miler Muskallonge, a winner at Saratoga will be one of them. Possibly Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, of Philadelphia, will send the over night handicap horses Two Feathers, Bravo and Macduff with the Mutt and Jeff delegation. Two Feathers, always a good horse at Saratoga, has won one race here.

James W. Healey will not know just what he will have for Blue Bonnets racing until after the sale of the Canterbury stud stables, which will be held here later in the month. But Robert Oliver, Algardi, Old Dad and Sea Bryn are sure to be in his string and it is possible that he may take Belle of Bryn Mawr and Sea Bryn along also. Sea Scot and Sea Bryn look fine prospects for autumn steeple chasing in Canada and in Maryland.

Minata, winner last fall of both the Hendrie Memorial and Bartlett McLennan renewals, will be the star Mrs. Ambrose Clak's outfit which Tim Donohue is training. Minata is in splendid form. He has just won a renewal of the Sh'lelah steeplechase at Saratoga. He seems to be as good at least as he was last fall. The jumpers Blight 2nd., The Trout and Wrack-Grass, the sprinter Oriole and a miler called Bromelit, also, Bly will accompany Monata.

Mr. Strassburger's best bet is Houyhnhnm. John Kermath a first class most creditable developments of the season's chasing. Houyhnhum, like Minata, is a Saratoga winner. He has schooled into a perfect fencer. He can beat vastly better horses now than he was able to trim when he was in Canada in the spring. Perkiomen, another steadily improving young jumper, will accompany Huoyhenm. John Kermath a first class steeplechase rider a few seasons back has the Strassburger horses in charge and he is developing two of the smartest 3 year olds about.

JOE LYNCH WINS

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug., 21—Joe Lynch, bantam champion, successfully defended his title last night by knocking out Frankie Murray, of Canada, in the sixth round of a scheduled 15 round bout. In the fourth round Murray sent Lynch to the canvas for the count of five.

SOUTH SIDE WINS

South Side defeated the Firemen one to nothing in a Dragoons' Cup game at Diamond Park last night. Heavy fie'd made the play somewhat slower than it would otherwise have been.

TWENTY MILE CYCLE EVENT IS FEATURE

Will Start at Fort Saskatchewan and Finish in Front of Grand Stand

Inquiries have been received regarding the method of running the twenty-mile cycle race from Fort Saskatchewan to the exhibition grounds on Labor Day. It is proposed to take the competitors to Fort Saskatchewan in a motor truck, which will return behind the riders to pick up any stragglers, or those who may fall out. It is not expected that anyone will fall out because the boys are in excellent shape, but every precaution is being taken.

Auto Races Fine

There will be some fine thrills when the auto men get going. After the big bicycle race, and with every spectator in the grand stand, the path is set for the auto races, and for four hours there will be something doing all the time. There will, of course, be further bicycle races and platform attractions, including the pillow fight, but after all that there will be the exciting championship motor cycle and auto races. Several entries have been received. Three cars only will be allowed on the track at one time so that means a great afternoon's racing.

Ask Particulars

Do not be uncertain about anything. Get in touch with J. K. Matheson at the exhibition grounds on the matter or phone 6416. Indications point to Labor Day being one of the biggest of its kind in racing, so get your seat early.

New Empire

Fair and Warmer, All Week Matinees Thursday and Saturday

"Fair and Warmer," which has to do with the domestic affairs of two couples who live in the same New York apartment house, is another of the hits that has been presented by the Allen Players at the New Empire theatre. From an attendance standpoint it is perfect and packed houses will be the rule from now on. This will especially be a fact at the bargain matinee Thursday, which has grown to be more and more a New Empire feature. The following tells something about "Fair and Warmer:"

Billy and Laura, who occupy one apartment are the two extremes, the former yearning towards his "quiet evenings at home" and the latter "nights out at the opera and the cabaret afterwards." As Billy puts it, when asked what he would do if he might have anything in the world "I'd go to bed at 8 o'clock." On the floor above are Jack, who goes out several nights a week to attend imaginary meetings of "The Mystic Shrine" at which he "crosses the burning sands;" and Blanny, his loving, faithful spouse, who implicitly believes everything he tells her just because he tells her.

Billy and Blanny are thrown together for the evening, their suspicions are aroused and they decide to have a little of the pleasures they believe their other halfs are having and have it right there at home. They do, with the result that the excitement loving spouse and husband receive the greatest lesson of their lives and what might have proven a serious tragedy turns out to be the funniest sort of a comedy.

Metropolitan

Three Faces East, All Week Matinees Wednesday and Saturday

The inside working of the German secret service, which stirred up unlimited trouble during the world war, are revealed in "Three Faces East," which is delighting big audinces at the Metropolitan theatre where it is being presented all week by the Metropolitan Players. This dramatic offering shows the remarkable espionage system maintained by the German government, and the ends to which the Huns would go to accomplish their designs. In "Three Faces East" a woman becomes involved in the battle of wits between the British intelligence bureau and the German secret service, finally, through the assistance of the allies frustrating the enemy's plots.

"Three Faces East" which served as a starring vehicle for Violet Heming during its New York run, marks the initial appearance of Miss Almeda Fowler as leading lady at the Metropolitan theatre. Miss Fowler who has a remarkably fine stage presence, joined the Metropolitan Players a few weeks ago, after closing her season in vaudeville on the Orphum circuit, previous to which she had been a member of some of the leading stock companies in the country. The feminine lead in "Three Faces East" gives Miss Fowler a real chance and she makes the most of her opportunities Alexis B. Luce is, as always, splendid as Valdar, a secret service operative while Fred Sullivan gains fresh laurels as the head of the British intelligence department.

None should miss this drama which will be repeated every evening this week with Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Seats can be reserved at the box office for any performance.

"Golden Dreams"

Allen Theatre, Last Times Today

Zane Grey is not only a famous novelist, the sale of whose books has now passed the million mark, and one of the authors making screen history but is a descendant of the famous Zane family which helped to make early western history. Mr. Grey's latest photoplay, "Golden Dreams," based upon his story of that title, and produced by Benjamin B. Hampton for distribution by Goldwyn, at the Allen theatre for the last times today.

Mr. Grey's father was a backwoodsman, hunter and farmer in his early days. In later life he took up the practice of medicine. His mother was a descendant of the famous Zanes so intimately connected with border history. He was born in Zanesville, O., the town founded by his maternal grandfather at the time that General Washington presented him with 10,000 acres of ground in Ohio in recognition of his services in holding Fort Henry (now Wheeling) against the Indians for twenty years.

With his ancestry it is small wonder that Mr. Grey has devoted his writing talents to stories of the Great West and life on the prairies and in the mountains. He is the most successful writer of western stories that this country has ever produced.

Don't Doubt Your Wife

Empress Theatre, Last Times Today

Leah Baird is the type of woman who is a joy to her modiste, for she can wear the severely tailored things and look perfect, or the softest and daintest of feminine frills are positively ravishing on her. Simple girlish clothes become her; or more sophisticated, matronly things set off her figure to splendid advantage.

In "Don't Doubt Your Wife," a domestic drama offering a suggestion to the married, showing at the Empress for the last time today, Miss Baird, who is the feature's star and author wears many charming things, ranging from sport clothes to a wedding gown.

For tennis Miss Baird, who plays an excellent game, believes in lightness and looseness. With a pleated Canton crepe skirt of white she wore a rose satin (Tuxedo), embroidered around the bottom with flowers in vari-colored wool. Miss Baird is not one of those stars who pose for pictures on a tennis court wearing French-heeled pumps. She wears suede sport shoes in white and gray.

Secrets of the Movies Revealed

Q.—In connection with what screen play was $50,000 paid for the use of four words?

A.—For the right to use the four words "The World is Mine" in the Count of Monte Christo. $50,000 were paid to the estate of James O'Neill, the actor who made the stage play a famous success. Although the line is associated in the minds of most people with Dumas' novel, Dumas did not write the line, which does not appear in any French edition. The authorship of the line in credited to James O'Neill, who appeared in the play for over a quarter of a century in all the large centers of the world The words were used by Mr. O'Neill as the climax of the second act.

Q.—What screen comedian was recently married?

A.—Clyde Cook recently married Florence Miller.

Q.—What thriller has Jack Giddings in the part of Slade to perform in "The Young Rajah" in which Valentino is starred?

A.—One of the many stunts Giddings is called on to do is to fall 40 feet from a window.

Q.—What new movie actress became a leading lady on her first appearance?

A.—Peggy Shaw, her first appearance which was in "A Little Child Shall Lead Them," was such a hit that she was selected as the lead.

Q.—What two noted female movie stars never had any stage experience?

A.—Norma and Constance Talmadge have never appeared on the speaking stage.

What was the result of a two week's search in New England for new screen possibilities by a movie scout. The answer will be published tomorrow. (Copyright 1922—Thompson Feature Service.)

UNCLE TOM'S LETTER

Dear Members—Do any of you grow house flowers? That's my latest amusement. Not long ago I sent away for seeds, and just now all the household is interested in watching their development. Aunt Polly sent for rose seeds this spring, and for ever so long didn't see any sign of a flower. Finally she just put the pot outside, and didn't bother even watering it. Then, what do you think? One day she happened to look at it, and there was a tiny rose of just three leaves. Now, about a month after, it is a little rose bush, not two inches high—but with a bud on it. Did you ever know the like?

I sent for rose-seeds too, and there are two showing the first two leves. There was a third, but it died, and now I'm almost afraid to look for fear the others die too. I'm taking very good care of them, though and if they live, won't I be proud? I'll tell you more about them later.—Uncle Tom.

THE FIRST TELESCOPE

There was a Dutch spectacle-maker living at the close of the 16th-century, whose little daughter was with him one day when he was at work, and amused herself with looking through some of the lenses. Suddenly she called out excitedly: "O look, father, I can see the church steeple as if it was just in front of me." The spectacle-maker looked up and saw that she was holding up two lenses, one at some distance from the other. He left his work and went himself to have a sight of this wonder steeple, and the result of his little girl's discovery was the first attempt at a telescop. The Dutchman constructed a rough toy instrument of two lenses, and the rumor soon spread of this strange toy which could bring distance things close; but the drawback to this Dutchman's primitive telescope was that the objects seen through it appeared upside down. The news of it reached Galileo, the famous Italian astronomer of that time, and he is said to have sat up all night thinking out the rule for telescopic construction; and then he made an instrument for himself, with the help of a small organ pipe, his telescope having this advantage over the Dutchman's, that things were seen right side up when you looked through it. From these two impromptu telescopes were developed the gigantic mounted telescopes of the great observatories of today, the Lick and others.

BEES

The bees in the garden
Are every one Mary's.
The butterflies also,
As well as the fairies;
And volumes are written
On bees by the sages—
Oh, hundreds and hundreds,
And hundreds of pages!

They must think us mortals
Ungracious and funny
To give them wet sugar
And take all their honey,
Then make them the subjects
Of lyrics and sonnets,
No wonder some people
Have bees in their bonnets!

NEVER SMOKED ALOUD

A stationmaster seenig a man smoking inside a waiting-room, said to him: "Don't you see that notice up there?"

"Do you mean that bit of painted tin?" asked the man.

"Yes. Why don't you follow it?" rejoined the stationmaster severely.

"Sure," replied the man, "because I haven't seen it move. It's nailed fast, I believe."

"I mean have you read the notice?"

"Sure, I don't know how to read."

"Well, it says, 'No smoking allowed here.'"

"Be jabers, it doesn't concern me, for I've never smoked aloud in my life."

At Three Picnics

Dear Uncle Tom—I have passed into Grade 8 since I wrote you last. We are having holidays now. Papa and mamma went to Edmonton today, but I think they will soon be home.

My cousins Nellie and Alice Martin were here for a visit three weeks ago. I was to three picnics this summer. Our school played a baseball game with New Sarepta school, but we lost. —Clarence Drebert.—• New Sarepta, August 4.

Congratulations, Clarence. I suppose you will be very busy this term but hope you won't forget the club. I am sure you had a jolly visit with Nellie and Alice. Too bad about the game! Were you playing? Better luck next time.—Uncle Tom.

Would Send Crochet Patterns

Dear Uncle Tom.—I received my prize and thank you for it. I shall use it to buy more school books. We had examinations in literature, art, grammar, arithmetic, spelling, history and civic, geography, rapid calculation, agriculture and writing. Our school gardens are growing nicely.

I am returning the handicraft pattern and thank you for sending it. Uncle Tom, I have the directions for several simple edgings, and would gladly send them if any members would care to have them.

Here are two contest subjects; a title for a certain picture, or to print a picture and have it painted. I have tried for the weed-destroying contest. Did you get my list? It has been very hot here this past week.—Frances de la Cluyse • • •.—Boyle, Aug., 6.

Thank you for the offer of the crochet patterns, Frances. I shall be glad to hear from any members who wish to take advantage of it. Yes, I received your list. Thank you. About the picture, I think I should prefer to have the members draw the picture for themselves, but I shall think over the suggestion, and see what I can do with it. It would be a change from our other subjects. Did you manage to make the yoke, and did you like it? —Uncle Tom.

Dry Weather

Dear Uncle Tom,—I saw my letter in the Bulletin, and was glad. Say Uncle Tom, would you please send me a badge?

My garden didn't come up very well this year, as it was too dry. I just have a few sweet peas, dwarf morning glories, and four-o'clocks. How about your garden Uncle Tom?

Today there is a coffee-party at one of our neighbor's and we are all going. Thora is going in her wheel chair. I hope we shall have a jolly time.

Did you pick any raspberries this year, Uncle Tom? We picked about a quart, but ate them before we had time to cook them.

I like Aunt Poly's recipes in The Corner, and hope you will print some more.—Myrtle Johnson. Hay Lake, Aug., 6.

Didn't you get your badge yet Myrtle? I sent one, but if it didn't reach you, shall send another. We have a good garden, as we can use the hose in dry weather. Aunt Polly has some pretty pansies and sweet peas, verbenas, snapdragons, and such, and she has a little rose bush, not two inches high, with—would you believe it?—a bud on it. What do you think of that for spunk? I hope you all had a fine time at the party. What did you do besides drink coffee? I'm afraid to ask Aunt Polly for more recipes, but shall show her your letter and see what that will bring.—Uncle Tom.

From Two Ruths

Dear Uncle Tom,—How is Aunt Polly and your children? What are their names? Our school opens August 20. We have two dogs called Tray and Trixy, and two pups that aren't named yet.

I passed into Grade 4 this year, and am eleven years old now.—Ruth E. Mohr., Fort Saskatchewan, Aug., 7.

Dear Uncle Tom,—I passed into Grade 8 at the holidays. On the last day of school we had a little entertainment. Some said recitations others played or sung, and some had speches. Our parents and sisters and brothers were invited. The children brought cake, sandwiches, cookies, etc We served tea and the teachers provided ice cream. The senior room served the lunch. Everyone enjoyed the afternoon.—Ruth K. Mohr, Fort Saskatchewan, August 7.

I am glad to hear from both Ruths but where is Ruth C? Congratulations both of you, on your new grade. Aunt Polly is pretty well, Ruth E. but do you want the names of my twelve hundred odd nieces and nephews? That would be a list too long to print, I'm afraid. What did you do, Ruth K. at the closing? By the way, what do the initials stand for? I am curious about them. Do you look alike too, as well as have names alike?—Uncle Tom.

A Letter From Lylia

Dear Uncle Tom,—I found a robins nest up in our new house. It had four blue eggs in it, and now they are little robins. One little robin was down in the basement, and screaming with all his might. I got him and put him in the nest. Just as I was getting down he hopped out again and fell down stairs. Mamma went to get him. He was a sly little robin. Now they all have gone.

Our little colt was hurt. The big colt, Buster, bit her, and she is all raw. Daddy put two stitches in it, but she chewed them off, as it was itchy. We put her in the barn so the flies wouldn't bother her.

How is Aunt Polly? I am sending a story. Thanks for my badge.—Lylia Staub, Stony Plain, August 6.

What an ambitious little robin? He certainly was a plucky little chap, and evidently was determined to learn to fly. Too bad about the colt. Is she getting better again? I am sure you feel very sorry for her, and give her plenty of petting to help cure her. Aunt Polly is pretty well. Thank you for the story.—Uncle Tom.

Catching Gophers

Dear Uncle Tom,—Mother and I were cleaning the wood box, and there was a mouse in it. The little kitten caught him and wanted to play with him and he got away.

I am having holidays now, and enjoying them very much. I have joined the Red Cross. We have meeting every two weeks. The boys make toys and the girls sew. My sister is secretary-treasurer.

I have been catching gophers. I caught seven out of one hole. Then I took up my traps and brought them to the grain field. I caught two striped gophers, and a prairie gopher Then I took up my traps, and didn't set them again.—Henry Van Volkenburg, Mulhurst, August 6.

It's a good thing Aunt Polly wasn't helping clean the wood box Henry, or you'd have thought there was a murder or something. I suppose it is because Blanche is so busy with her Red Cross that she doesn't write to the Corner, lately? Tell her we are looking for a letter.

You didn't do badly with the traps, did you? Gophers are a great pest. I suppose school will start again soon. Did you make a higher grade?—Uncle Tom.

CANADIAN LABOR LEGISLATION IS SPLENDID TYPE

Minister Thinks Citizens Should Be Proud of Superiority Of Their Law

Montreal, Aug. 21.—Superiority of Canadian labor legislation over that of the United States, was a subject which Hon. James Murdock, federal minister of labor stressed in speaking at the Liberal speakers' association banquet held here tonight.

He instanced the fact that the Canadian Industrial disputes act had brought about negotiations between the railway shopmen at Montreal whereas in the United States a decision of the United States labor board with the law behind it had been followed by a strike.

Hon. A. G. Galipeault, provincial minister of public works and labor said that the Liberal party was very closely allied with labor. He instanced the Workmen's Compensation Act, Factory Inspection, Child Labor laws, "one man one vote law" Scaffolding acts and provisions generally for the protection of working people.

Hon. Aurele Lacombe, provincial minister without portfolio, also spoke briefly on labor matters.

Any developments will probably be reported to the committee.

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin—pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get them out after they become hard. The peroxine powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anybody troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

GREAT BRITAIN'S DEBT TO UNITED STATES DISCUSSED

Impossible to Pay It Says British Financier Writing To The London Times

London, Aug. 21—The Times continues to devote much attention to the question of Great Britain's debt to the United States.

Tomorrow the newspapers will print prominently a letter from a well known financier named Govett, arguing the impossibility of the repayment of any allied debts, even the British debt to the United States.

Mr. Govett contends that the British debt could be paid only in sound securities which are the property of individuals and not of the state and could therefore ony be collected by a disastrous capital levy, in gold, which is non-existant and which the United States does not want and the funding process, or lastly by goods which, on a moderate computation of the amortization of the funded debt in 25 years, would involve an increase in the adverse trade balance of about £75,000,000 yearly £50,000,000 for interest and £25,000,000 for amortization.

The Times also prints a statement from Sir Mark Sheldon, former Australian high commissioner in London, who declares it is hopeless to expect the United States to cancel its debt.

He says however, that if the men entrusted with the funding negotiations understand United States opinion and are prepared to study the development of the United States policy, they may secure better terms and reductions in interest on the loans

STEWART HOLDS CONFERENCE WITH SASK. OFFICIALS

Would Have Western Provinces Indicate What Kind of Immigrants Desired

Regina, Aug. 21—"I am trying to arrange with the western provinces to send representatives to Ottawa, at least once a year to let us know what class of immigrants they require, so that where artisans are wanted, we can send artisans, and where agricultural settlers are needed we can send them where they will do the best for themselves and be of the greatest benefit to the country."

Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, thus stated his mission to Regina and the capitals of the other western provinces.

This was one of the subjects upon which Mr. Stewart conferred today with members of the Saskatchewan government. Matters relating to the operation of federal and provincial drainage legislation were also under discussion.

Accompanied by W. M. Graham, Indian commissioner Mr. Stewart will visit some of the Indian reserves in the southern part of the province before continuing his journey eastward.

NEED OF UNITY IS THE MESSAGE FROM MEIGHEN

Conservative Leader Reviews Political Happenings Since Last Election

Vancouver, Aug. 21—"No matter what else you do, let union be the product of this convention." This was the message given by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, tonight, in his speech to the British Columbia Conservative convention. His speech dealt chiefly with a review of political happenings since the last federal election and he repeated his condemnation of the present federal government and its policy. He followed closely the lines laid down in his speeches in eastern and western Canada during the last few weeks, describing the Liberal policy as one of insincerity.

"You are here to determine your course in provincial politics," he said. "In that I cannot help you and you are abundantly able to help yourselves. An impetus to conservatism will be given if a united and determined party issues from this convention. Any individual who stands in the way of a united party should be ruthlessly cast aside."

Hon. J. B. N. Baxter, of Nova Scotia, also addressed the delegates tonight, who were gathered to hear the two ex-ministers.

The prisoner who at present is exciting public interest, is ony 22 years of age.

Apart from the youthfulness of the condemned woman, it is maintained that public opinion has become entirely against the execution of females

Trades Council Will Celebrate Labor Day with Afternoon Public Meeting and Dance Program Later

The promotion of highway construction, the laying of sewers, water mains and other work of a municipal, provincial or federal character, were ardently advocated by various labor organizations at the recent Calgary unemployment conference. The federal government was called upon to limit immigration, adopt a national eight hour day, construct and repair public buildings and overhaul rolling stock and other railroad material. The provincial authorities were requested to build roads that would prove of value to agriculturists, promote irrigation schemes and generally open up all work possible for the coming winter in order that work might be secured for all. The Edmonton delegate also asked the convention to go on record asking that the standard of maintaining unemployed should be in' conformity with the tenets of decency and sanitary necessity: This was adopted.

Concert Discussed

The preceding was embodied in a report made by delegate Farmilo to the Edmonton Trades and Labor council at their regular meeting Monday night. The report was adopted. The entertainment for Labor Day was discussed and the following approved. An address will be delivered in the afternoon commencing at 3:30 by William Irvine, M.P. for Calgary. He will be introduced by George Latham and a short preliminary speech will be delivered by Robert McCreath. During the evening a concert, dance and a few short addresses will be held at the Memorial Hall. For the latter affair a charge of fifty cents will be made and tickets can be obtained from acting secretary R. McCreath or any of the delegates. Mello orchestra will supply the music for the dance.

Union Labels Committee

Members of the provincial cabinet, city council and school board will be sent complimentary tickets and it is hoped that a number of these people will be able to attend. The standing social committee will report to the council to decide upon their program for next winter's social program and to secure the quarters that were obtained last season. The Union Label committee under the directorship of delegate Tucker made a report requesting the assistance of all local unions in spreading the campaign to insist upon the use of ne label on all union made goods. Particular stress was laid on the use of union made envelopes as only one firm on the American continent turned this product out and at present were facing very difficult conditions. He stated that a list of all union made products manufactured in the city of Edmonton was being compiled and would be ready for distribution in the near future. The report was received

Delegate McCreath expressed to the Council his sincere thanks for recognition which Council had shown of his services, as a delegate for nine years, for four years of which he was president, in presenting him with the honorarium and letter of appreciation.

To observe Labor Sunday in the city churches is the desire of the Trades and Labor Council and city ministers will be asked to observe this day, September 3rd, with appropriate services.

A source of fruitful discussion was the old question of recommending the granting of a charter to certain laborers in the city. Two reports were laid before the house, the majority report, urging that the council recommend the opening of a list in the office and if sufficient names be subscribed, the charter aplied for, was carried. The minor'ty report, suggesting that these men be incorporated into the Hod Carriers and Common laborers union was defeated.

FIRE APPARATUS VEHICLES COLLIDE; TWO INJURED

New Orleans, Aug. 22—Two city firemen were in the hospital today, a fire engine and a touring auto were almost totally wrecked and a building partly demolished and two others flooded as a result of a collision between the two motor vehicles, while the fire apparatus was responding to an alarm last night.

The reason is almost over and still scientists have not discovered how many ice cream cones are required to fill a small boy.

Who Pays?

France does not intend to do any cancelling of reparations claims unless it has to, nor to grant Germany a moratorium without tangible guarantees that payment delayed will not become payment denied. The substance of M. Poincare's complaint is that Germany has not really made a serious attempt to meet its undertakings, and that the reparations commission has been too much inclined to be charitable to the defaulter at the expense of France. He declares that the German Government has never balanced its budget by taxation since the armistice was signed; that while they were pleading poverty to the Allies the statesmen at Berlin have been spending vast sums in public improvements; and that the value of the mark has been deliberately scuttled by the wholesale issue of paper money. France, he says, will not under such circumstances agree to a reduction in the reparations bill at her cost; and will not consent to a moratorium unless the German state mines in the Ruhr basin and the German national forests are turned over to the Allies as guarantees of better behaviour in future.

This language is both straight and strong. It leaves no room for doubt as to where France stands, and it seems to convey the sentiment and purpose of the nation. Unfortunately it is a view with which the British Government does not agree. Thus far the British and French Premiers have not been exchanging broadsides in the open, as they did when last they disagreed, but they appear to be as far apart—and the entente as near to a break-down—as at any time since the Allies undertook the unlikely job of collecting damages from Germany without the use of force. The worst that M. Poincare has to say is that Great Britain does not seem to realize the gravity of the French financial situation and the vital importance to France of the early payment of the reparations claims. But that is quite grave enough to point the fact that the relations between the two are not what they should be. After the horrors through which they passed together in the years of war it is unthinkable that either could be rightfully accused of lacking sympathy with the economic wounds of the other. That the official spokesman of France has found cause to make such complaint to his countrymen should stir public opinion in England. If it fails to do so the spirit of solidarity has gone out of the alliance, and Berlin can hope to deal hereafter with the Allies individually. Germany in that case has won the peace after losing the war and its pean of victory will be sung by those peculiar people in Britain and Canada who have in recent months been agonizing about the distress of Germany and condemning France as having plunged into Chauvinism.

It may be that the reparations bill is a larger one than Germany can ever pay. The thing certainly looks impossible. But that is not the rock upon which the entente is pounding itself to pieces. France declares, through its Premier, that Germany has not tried to pay; has diverted money to other uses which should have gone to the commission; has deliberately water-logged its currency in order to bring about a financial collapse and thus get out of paying. And if Germany does not pay the reparations France must pay them. The homes of her people have to be rebuilt, and the whole wrecked economic structure restored to normal. That cannot be done with printed paper. It will take real money. Is this to come out of German pockets, in accord with the terms of the treaty, and so far as Germany is able to live up to them? Or must bankrupt France find the means with which to repair her injuries while Germany is excused on the plea that it is hard up? That is the question that faces France—and the Allies.

Keep Hoping.

Welsh coal operators have stopped booking orders from this side of the ocean, having already sold all that can be got out of the ground during August and September. Having exhausted the available and prospectively available supply oversea, perhaps the people in the eastern provinces will now consider the proposal that they buy some coal from the Canadian mines which are still working, but working only part time because they cannot get orders for more than a third of their possible output.

Inter the Relics.

The Provincial authorities are starting a campaign of prosecution against merchants who offer bad eggs for sale. The penalties provided by the law are severe enough to make it worth while for a dealer to go over his stock and sort out the over-age specimens. Any time is a good time to buy rotten eggs, for they will never get any better. The present is an unusually favorable time because it is cheaper to do it than to have them laying around when the inspector drops in.

Hush Money.

The gas company has deposited $20,000 with the city to pay the costs if the council will drop the law-suit against the company and consent to let the Public Utilities Commission fix/the rates the consumers must pay if the company ever instals a distribution system. The inference is that the company would rather lose the money than the rights and powers it stands to lose if the law-suit is pressed. Also that the company counts on the Commission making the rates high enough to let it get the money back from the users of gas.

One Way to Settle It.

The U.S. fuel board is said to have a scheme to settle the coal strike by fixing a price for coal—a dollar higher than it was during the war. That might be entirely satisfactory to the miners and the operators. It would enable the miners to get higher pay, and the operators to give it without any cost to themselves. That it would settle the strike overnight is entirely probable. But it would likely start something worse. The public cannot pay war prices or more than war prices for coal at present rates of wages and profits, should not be asked to, do not have to, and do not intend to.

Trying To Quit.

The British Minister of Labor says the Government and the municipalities in the Old Lands have paid out the gigantic sum of fifty million pounds for relief work, and that the ministers have come to the conclusion that handing out doles and creating artificial employment does not tend to lessen the demands. The British taxpayer has surely paid a high enough price for bringing that patent fact into the consciousness of his governing authorities. The serious question is, how is the Government now going to eradicate the appetite for hand-outs that has been thus stimulated to the point of killing the instinct of self-help in a vast number of people?

Former Emperor's Publication Gets Much Advertising

Berlin, Aug. 22—Former Emperor William's forthcoming publication will have a wide circulation in Germany if low prices and extensive advertising are of any avail.

Berlin bookshops display announcement of the volume next October and offer to book orders for it, if in paper covers for 100 marks, which is slightly less than 15 Canadian cents at the current rate of exchange.

The prospectus gives the headings of the various chapters which cover William's life from 1876 to 1918. Among the headings are:

"My attitude towards the church." "The outbreak of the war," "The end of the war," "The Hope and the Peace," "Friendly and Neutral Powers," "The Destruction and Germany's future."

JAMAICANS WANT CLOSER RELATIONS WITH CANADA

WORKING THE WAR TO A FRAZZLE

Although the wheat board did not begin to function until nearly a year after the war was over the Winnipeg Tribune falls back on the war as an excuse for the present failure to function.

The conditions too are wholly different from those that existed during the war. Then the situation was governed, not by the interest of wheat growers, and only through their advantage that of others, but by an overmastering necessity to neglect nothing to win the war at no matter whose cost or expense.

STILL TALKING COALITION

Manitoba Free Press:

To bring Liberals and Progressives together would be no end of a task. It is doubtful whether in view of the suspicion which permeates the Progressive ranks there could be fusion unless the Liberals of the left, following the example of tens of thousands of their former party associates, should enter the Progressive ranks. This will be a process of years. The prospects are that the Progressives will have to turn into a regular political party, with all the accompanying outfit or organization and machinery; and face a long and gruelling fight for the opportunity to put their program into effect. The only alternative would be to go into the Liberal party and trust, by adding their weight to the really Liberal elements to modify the policy of conformity with their wishes and ultimately to force the reactionary members out of the government. By these means a good deal that is worthwhile might be accomplished. But politically, for reasons that we have suggested, we think this is wholly unattainable objective at this time.

BEGINNING TO DOUBT

Regina Leader:

The trouble that the Governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta are having in finding a chairman for the Canadian Wheat Board of 1922 may be fatal to the hopes of those farmers who were counting on the board to market their crop this year. This is unfortunate for two reasons: The farmers would be denied the advantages of a system of marketing to which they have pinned their faith; and the federal Government would be forced to ask itself whether the West really knows what it wants. The prairie provinces may not have a monopoly of grain marketing ability but, as might be expected from the fact that they constitute the granary of Canada, they have a very large proportion of it. When a chairman for the board created to market the wheat crop of two or three of these provinces cannot be found among their grain trading experts, some of whom are also their political leaders and were the first to claim credit for the legislation passed at the last session in Ottawa, where can the Governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta turn for such a man?

THE FIGURES

Victoria Times:

Mr. Meighen is so unhappy that it must seem unkind to take very seriously what he says, even though it be said at a Tory picnic. But it is hard to resist indulging in a comment on this incomparable gem:

> In the early life of this Dominion, the best of our young manhood and womanhood was attracted by the greater opportunities of the republic to the south. This calamitous process has been checked. It has been checked by our protective tariff. That tariff has been our main instrument in the great contest, and that instrument we must hold and utilize.

Dear brethren, let us reason together for a moment on this modest little claim. The census of 1910 as reported in 1911, the year the high tariff party of which Mr. Meighen is a conspicious though bilious figure, came into power at Ottawa, showed that Canada's population at that time was 7,200,504. During the decade which ended in 1921, when Mr. Meighen's party went out of office, the increase of births over deaths in the Dominion was about 1,500,000. The immigration to Canada was 1,800,000. Hence our population in 1921 should have been 10,500,000. But it was only 8,784,000. What became of the 1,700,000 unaccounted for in our census returns? The United States immigration figures help to solve the mystery. The majority of the missing ones went to the neighboring republic. And Mr. Meighen says the fiscal policy of his party checked this migration!

Majestic is Delayed By Repairs Being Made in Engine Room

New York, Aug. 22—The Majestic, largest ship afloat, which left Southampton for New York last Wednesday, is almost twelve hours late, having been delayed because of repairs which had to be made at sea in her engine room. Officers of the White Star line said today that the big ship was not in serious trouble, and that she would reach port tomorrow morning. It was declared that the difficulty developed in Southampton in the bed of the big turbine engines.

State Police Called To Keep Out Band of Russian Communists

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 22—Michigan state police were ordered to Bridgeman today to assist in rounding up a band of about eighty persons alleged to be Russian Communists and who are said to have crossed into Michigan from Chicago. Reports reaching the department of public safety were to the effect that the party planned to hold a meeting in Bridgeman. An effort may be made to deport the party, said to have been ordered to leave Chicago.

Life Underwriters' Convention Opens With Many Present

Toronto, Aug. 22—With an expected total registration of 1,500 to 2,000 the sessions of the third international convention of life underwriters began here this morning. The delegates are from every province of Canada and from the larger cities of the United States. John L. Shutt, of Cincinnati and J. G. Stephenson, of Winnipeg, will occupy the chair at alternative sessions. Today's program opened with invocation and an extending of the official civic welcome by Mayor Maguire. Suitable reply was made by President Shutt after which the order of business was inaugurated and carried on throughout the day

UNCOMMON SENSE

GOOD STARTERS

There were twenty-five starters in a recent three mile walk which was a feature of the track and field games of the New York Athletic Club.

Four men were in the race when it was won.

Now this is not an editorial about walking races, which are not particularly valuable except as tests of endurance.

When a man in an airplane can travel one hundred miles an hour it seems foolish to the present writer for him to seek to show his speed afoot.

The point we are seeking to make is that in almost every race there are a great many starters who have insufficiently equipped for the contest in which they take part.

In a new business organization, where a hundred or more employees are hired at once, the manager knows that not more than ten or twelve will be with him at the end of ten years, and that of these ten or twelve not more than two will be in important positions.

The rest were job hunters when they applied for employment, and they will be job hunters all their life.

They entered the race insufficiently equipped for that or for any other race.

They were predestined to failure at the start.

Many such people have real ability, but their lack is grit.

When the bad places appear they haven't the courage to go on.

They think it is the lack of opportunity that turns them away. They are wrong. It is the lack of something in themselves.

Not all men are fitted to win three mile walking races or the races for general managerships in business.

But whether they are fitted to win or not, they will never win unless the take the trouble to prepare for the work or the race in the first place, and stick to it after it becomes exhausting business, which it often is.

What wears most of them out is not the work they have to do, but the knowledge that they are incompetent to do the work.

Working at a task one cannot do well is the most nerve racking thing in the world.

There are millions of good starters in this country. They all begin with rosy hopes and most of them finish discouraged and broken.

That is because of two things, lack of equipment and lack of grit.

BALLOON RACE WINNER IS NOT YET DECIDED

Dispute Arises As To Whether Belgian or American Has Captured Cup

Geneva, Aug. 22—Despite reports circulated today that Lieut. Ernest D. Muyter, Belgian balloonist, had been declared winner of the recent James Gordon Bennett cup race, the race committee announced that the final decision may not be reached for several days.

Ever since the final returns of the Gordon Bennett cup race were in, there has been conjecture on whether De Muyter or Captain Honeywell, the United States contestant, had won the race. De Muyter in the Belgian balloon Belgica landed in Roumania but press reports said that his balloon escaped from him at that place. De Muyter in a sworn statement said that his balloon escaped 24 hours after his landing had been registered and after all his instruments had been sealed in the presence of witnesses.

Honeywell landed at Taplo-Gorgyev east of Budapest. Cortlandt Field Bishop, who was Honeywell's representative at Geneva contended during the controversy that De Muyter did not report the conditions of his landing either by letter or telegraph within 48 hours as required by the rules. Mr. Bishop has stated that he is prepared to demand that an investigation be made on the spot were De Muyter landed so as to establish the proof of the latter's assertions.

WOMAN IS ACCUSED OF NOT STOPPING FOR STANDING CAR

Failing to stop the car she was driving when she came to a standing street car, Mrs. S. A. Brand of 11123, 65th street twice knocked against Miss E. McEwen of 9533 106th avenue and caused her certain injuries according to a report of the accident in the hands of the city police. The happening took place at the corner of 101st avenue and 103rd street after Miss McEwen had alighted from the street car and it is alleged by her that the driver of the car came from behind other cars which had been stopped for the street car.

Miss McEwen was twice struck by the auto according to the report, the first time on the leg and the second time when the car swung towards her she was knocked down and pushed several yards in front of the car. Mrs. Brand, it is stated, did not report the accident. The police are investigating and action will in all probability be taken.

Austria's Position Despairing; Collapse Near at Hand; Union With Germany or Italy Being Considered

Chancellor Seipel Makes Sudden Visits to Prague, Berlin And Rome It Is Said, To Discuss Situation—National Assembly Likely to Be Convoked.

Vienna, Aug. 22—The Austrian foreign office today issued a communique on yesterday's conference between the chancellor Zeipel and Premier Benes of Czecho-Slovakia, saying the Austrian chancellor asked two questions pertaining to the present political and economic crisis.

Chancellor Zeipel, asked first, whether there was a chance of an examination of the Austrian question by the League of Nations at this twelfth hour which would yield pledges for funds necessary from Austria to survive and second whether Austria should tread a new path and seek to enter into political and economic partnership with one or another of her neighbors or allied groups.

The Czecho-Slovakian premier, says the communique, replied that the labors of the league must not be under-estimated and that an appeal should be made to it. Moreover, he knew that certain powers would support such an appeal. He would not counsel any other move as the central European problem could not be solved by experiment, but only by method. Premier Benes promised to support the Austrian appeal and to get in touch with other nations on her behalf.

Vienna, Aug. 22—Chancellor Seipel's sudden visits to Prague, Berlin and Rome are said, in well-informed circles here to mean the intention of the Austrian government to force events and bring the country's situation to a precipitate head rather than continue in a drifting policy.

It is understood the Chancellor will flatly inform the premiers of these three countries that a collapse is morally certain and is near at hand. He will point out the danger of this eventuality to the three neighboring states and ask them what action they are prepared to undertake, singly or jointly, when the crash comes whether they will interfere and if so, how.

Upon Chancellor Seipel's return to Vienna he is expected to convoke the national assembly and lay the whole situation before it. If the assembly agrees with him that there is no solution to the crisis from within, he is expected to demand the assembly's approval to appeal to the League of Nations for the fusion of Austria with Germany or for the voluntary partition of the country. Should this program be carrid out, it is believed in the best informed foreign quarters here that a most serious situation would result, in as much as all the openly discussed plans for partition have failed to find an answer to the question of what would become of Vienna.

Precipitate action, regardless of the central government, by one or more of the Austrian provinces in the event of a collapse is not unexpected, and the Tyrol is regarded as a danger spot in this connection. Should a secession movement develop the government would be utterly powerless to use force, and it is belived Chancellor Seipel will ask either Czecho-Slovia, Germany or Italy if they are prepared to do so.

Count Czernin today openly advocates the immediate consummation of a union with Italy both economic and political. A spontaneous demand by unemployed workmen yesterday betrayed the high tension now existing in Vienna. Iron window shutters crashed shut as by a signal and the populace faded from the streets. The police turned out in force, but beyond a few easily suppressed scufflers there was no disorders. The unemployed men, however, served a notice that if their demands for reduced food prices to the unemployed were not granted the police would not be able to stop them a second time from giving vent to their despair.

Coal Production In United States Takes Big Jump

Washington, Aug. 22—Coal production for the week beginning yesterday was forecast at between five million and six million tons by the Central Coal distribution commission. This would be highest output since the miners' strike began April 1.

The total production for the past week, the commission estimated, would include about 1,500,000 tons new production resulting from the Cleveland agreement.

Coast Conservatives Will Commence Their Conference Tuesday

Vancouver, Aug. 21—Proceedings in the provincial conservative convention here today were restricted to formalities. The credentials committee was unable to complete its labors this afternoon, and the convention adjourned until Tuesday after the opening speeches, one of these delivered by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, while it was brief and formal, evoked an ovation for the ex-premier which lasted five minutes.

Mr. Meighen advocated the adoption of the name "Liberal-Conservative party" as the official name of the party.

A formal resolution to this effect, introduced by Senator J. D. Taylor, met with some opposition from delegates who opposed the hyphenated character of the name and the delegates not having been officially "seated," the resolution had to be held over as a contentious one.

This was the only piece of business before the convention today.

TO REPORT ON CONFERENCE

For the next general meeting of the G.W.V.A. a full report has been prepared, by Comrade W. A. Irwin, the local representative to the unemployment conference at Calgary. The Calgary city clerk has also forwarded a complete review of the whole proceedings.

NORWEGIAN POLITICIAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Christiania, Aug. 21—J. G. Leovland, former premier and minister of foreign affairs died today.

POLICE REPORT TELLS STORY OF GREAT SUFFERING

Man Badly Frozen Alone For Eightee Weeks on Mackenzie River Island

The terrible sufferings of a man alone on an island in the Mackenzie river was related in a report received today from the north to Superintendent Jennings, R.C.M.P. Edmonton. For eighteen weeks after having his feet frozen, the victim lay in his cabin unable to leave. With a jack knife he amputated the toes of his left foot in an effort to ease his agonizing pain. For food he existed on nothing but raw flour, which lay in a convenient sack near his bed, mixed with the snow he was able to scrape from the outside after he had patiently scratched the dobie from between the logs with which his cabin was built. Thus he managed to keep body and soul together until the Mounted Police discovered him.

Indians Suspicious

Indians who had been trapping in the vicinity of the man's cabin reported last April they had not seen any signs of the man. There were no tracks, nor any wood chips, as he was supposed to be cutting wood for the river boats. With their customary superstition, the Indians would not go near the cabin, and when the matter was reported to the Mounted Police by the Indians, which they did, as they sensed something was wrong, the police at once started out to investigate.

Equipped with two dog teams, Sergt. Clay left his headquarters with Constable Bell. They took with them supplies of food, etc. Arriving at the island, which is about 45 miles north of Fort Norman, the police eventually found the cabin. Sergt. Clay, in his report said, "We found the cabin in an almost undescribable condition." In it lay the man we were looking for. All five toes of his left foot and the foot itself appeared to be mortified. The right big toe was gangrenous. The man explained that "his feet had gone bad on him on his way back to camp before Christmas."

Sergt. Clay describes the condition of the interior of the cabin which had not had the door or window open for more than four months. Remains of a fire were near the mass of sacks and blankets which composed the man's bed. But he had evidently been unable to kindle it, so had to remain without any artificial heat through eighteen weeks of Arctic winter. There was no other food in the cabin than some raw flour, which happened to stand quite close to where the sufferer lay. With this flour he had mixed snow pulled in from the outside through chinks laboriously cut out between the logs of the cabin. During the whole period of his virtual imprisonment, no other food had passed his lips.

Sergt. Clay cooked some food for the patient, and also put on temporary dressings on his feet. He then despatched Constable Bell to Fort Norman for assistance, and medical supplies and also to try and get Dr. Richardson of the Imperial Oil Company's plant.

Supplies Arrived

Two teams arrived back in consequence with Arthur Hardisty and Joe Kinney, together with the requisite supplies. Between them a cariole was built, and the sick man conveyed back to Norman. The trip commencing at 6 a.m. reaching their destination at 9 p.m.

With customary solicitude for their charges, Sergt. Clay states in his report: "The sick man must have suffered considerably on this journey as the ice was very rough and it was almost impossible to so handle the sled that he would not receive some punishment."

On arrival at Norman the patient was put in bed at the Hudson's Bay Company office. After being bathed and clean clothes supplied, it became necessary for the police to nurse the man themselves, as no one would volunteer for the duty. Corporal Baker, R.C.M.P., however, undertook to do the work.

Dr. Richardson had to amputate the left foot and the right big toe.

Served Overseas

The man is reported to have gone north on the SS. Mackenzie during the summer of 1921. In July of that year he was put off on the island to cut cordwood for the steamboats. He was not heard of again until December 6th when he walked into Fort Norman for supplies and was equipped by the H.B.Co. He returned pulling a toboggan.

J. L. McCleery was the name he gave. He states he is a naturalized Canadian, aged 53, and served overseas with 102nd battalion. He says he has a sister, Mrs. Fanny Herd, Hutchings McKean Co., Pennsylvania.

While it is anticipated that he will recover he is entirely destitute of funds, and will be a sick man for many months.

POLICE RECORDS TELL OF TRAGEDY IN THE FAR NORTH

Trapper Lost His Life By Exposure While Operating On South Nahanni

John O'Brien, a trapper, operating on the South Nahanni river, was found frozen to death on February 28th, according to word just received by Superintendent Jennings, R.C.M.P., Edmonton. O'Brien was partner with another trapper named Cooper. They left Edmonton in March, 1921, intending to locate in the vicinity of the Fort Norman oil well, but later changed their minds and went further north to establish a trap line. A cabin was built on the South Nahanni river, and on the 27th of January last, the deceased left the quarters intending to be gone about eight or ten days. He took with him the necessary supplies including blanket, grub, rifle, snares, etc. After being gone 16 days, his partner went to look for him, but owing to Indians having tramped over the trail, all signs of him were lost. Another trapper was located and the two men then started out on a fresh search on February 26th. Two days later O'Brien was found lying face downwards in the snow frozen stiff. In front of him were the remains of fire which had evidently gone out, and signs showed where the sick man had apparently been too weak to restart the blaze.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police investigated the affair, Sergt. Thorne, of Fort Simpson in charge. He reported that when the body was found, there were no external signs of violence. The man having evidently become overcome with the cold. He had been suffering from illness some weeks previously, and as he had a good supply of food with him, it was possible that another attack of his illness had come on which resulted in his freezing.

The deceased had had no experience in a cold country before, but had travelled extensively in south America, Mexico and in the United States. He served with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, enlisting in Lethbridge, December 13th, 1915, and was a sapper in the 1st Tunneling company.

No relatives of the dead man are known, and Superintendent Jennings is anxious to learn of any next-of-kin O'Brien was buried in a deep grave by the two trappers who discovered his body.

NORTHERN CROPS ARE MUCH BETTER THAN EXPECTED

Chas. Murphy, General Manager C.P.R. Western Lines is Pleased With Outlook

(Special to The Bulletin)

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 21—That crops in the Peace River and Grande Prairie country are very much better than was generally believed, is the statement of Charles Murphy, general manager of the Canadian Pacific western lines, who arrived in the city Sunday afternoon after a tour of inspection of that particular section of the province. Heavy dew, he stated, compensated, in a large measure for the lack of rain which had been experinced this season. As a matter of fact one of the farmers on the shores of Lake Saskatoon had cut his wheat and this would yield thirty bushels to the acre. "Parts of the country where the crops were despaired of a month ago" he said, "will yield twenty bushels, while oats will average about thirty bushels."

"Then the situation is much better than was anticipated," Mr. Murphy was asked.

"Yes, very much so indeed," he replied, "and the inspection I have made has been thorough. I am very pleased with what I have seen; there will be ample feed to carry the stock through the winter," he added.

Mr. Murphy said that work was proceeding on the extension connecting the Weyburn-Lethbridge line and would probably be completed this fall. He also stated that there would be no further closing down of the Ogden shops this year.

Three in Field For Leadership of The B.C. Conservatives

Vancouver, Aug. 22—If nominated as a candidate for the leadership of the Conservative party in British Columbia at the convention now in progress here, Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P. will accept. He declared this morning that he had steadily refused to permit his name to stand until approached last night by a very representative delegation. "In the face of their insistence, I coud not well refuse," he said. "I informed the delegation that if nominated, I would allow my name to stand."

It is expected that W. J. Bowser, K.C. present leader, and S. L. Howe, president of the provincial association will be nominated for the honor.

Aviators Forced To Land Because of Gas Shortage and Trouble

Calcutta, Aug. 22—Captain Norman MacMillan and Captain Malllins, who left here Saturday for Akyab, Burma, in continuation of the round-the-world flight abandoned by Major W. T. Blake because of illness, were forced to land on account of engine trouble and shortage of gasoline at Lakhidia, Char, says a message received today by the Calcutta statesman. The engine has been repaired, says the message, and the aviators intend to resume their flight immediately.

Are you going to buy a house?

All over Canada today in every city hundreds of new houses are being built for sale.

If you are buying a house one of the important considerations should be the kind of heating plant installed.

If it is a McClary's, pipe or one - register (pipeless) you can be assured that that house will be properly heated, because McClary's furnaces are installed by experts who are advised by McClary's heating engineers—the furnace is guaranteed by McClary's to heat every room in the house.

McClary's Sunshine Furnace

When you buy or build your new home, be sure to have it heated with a McClary's Sunshine Furnace.

Also makers of those good enameled cooking utensils — the "Clean Ware."

Immigration Needed if Capital To Flow Here From Great Britain

Colonel Kincaid Smith, Who Had Gas Offer Before City Last Year Visits Edmonton—Does Not View With Approval The Government Proposal for Wheat Board

"People must remember that the vast sums of money invested in Canadian railways, public utilities and every conceivable undertaking, flowed into Canada from British investors mainly owing to the probabilities of greatly increasing population. If this stream of pre-war days is to be arbitrarily cut off then I fear it will be impossible to persuade any British capital to resume the flow, even to come over in the tiniest stream." So declared Col. Kincaid Smith, who arrived in Edmonton Tuesday morning from England. Col. Smith was in Edmonton last Christmas endeavoring to obtain a franchise from the city for piping gas here, but had his offer turned down by the City Council.

Col. Smith also thought in connection with the immigration question that the buoyant, optimistic and booming spirit which was so prevalent before the war and which was so largely justifiable by the rapidly increasing population, should be revived once more in Western Canada. He said the atmosphere of optimism was a very great asset in the eyes of the investor, but it was incompatible with restricted immigration.

Deflation Faster in England.

Deflation in England had progressed somewhat more rapidly than in Canada. "As we all know, for a period after the war, opinion was unable to determine whether the cost of living would stabilize at post-war prices, or lower.

"In 1919-20-21, prices to the growers of the world's raw materials and commodities had gradually fallen to pre-war prices. Wheat is following suit. In England, the industrial world and transportation are more rapidly returning to normalcy than in Canada. It is only where the manufactured article is reduced to the level of the producers of the world that normal trade can be looked forward to.

Not For Wheat Board.

"In most other countries the farmers, the sugar planters, the tea planters, the rubber growers, had all done their best to get government assistance during the period of falling prices, but without success. Although I do not know much about the functions of the proposed wheat board I fail to see how it would help the farmers to obtain a higher price for wheat in Canada. During the war, the wheat board was acting for the British government as well as the farmer, which is a vastly different proposition to that suggested by Premiers Greenfield and Dunning.

"If a minimum price for wheat had been suggested and the difference between the maximum and the market prices were to be made up by the taxpayer there would be something intelligible about the proposals. But it would hardly be likely to find favor with the rest of the community.

"It was the scheme in operation in England up to 1921, when it was abolished owing to the disinclination of the country to subsidize one form of industry, and which cost the people a total of around $450,000,000.00."

Hopes Edmonton Gets Gas.

Col. Smith said he had no knowledge of what was transpiring between the city council and the Northern Alberta Gas Company, and he was not connected with the company in any way. "I hope," he stated, "for the sake of the people of Edmonton that they will get gas and I would strongly advise the city council to make quite sure they don't tie themselves up again, and grant a franchise to a concern that may find it impossible to carry out its contract. The fact of compelling a company to put down $50,000 as a guarantee of carrying out its work within a definite period, should be sufficient safeguard.

"It is well to remember that now, as always, the investor is master of the situation, and my impression is that it will be more difficult to finance the undertaking now than formerly."

Col. Smith will stay at the Macdonald for two or three days prior to leaving for Calgary and the coast.

MEMORIAL DAY SUNDAY WILL BE WELL OBSERVED

Special Services in City Churches Suggested as Well as Public Memorial Service

It has been suggested that for Memorial Day, which will be solemnized throughout the Dominion on Sunday next, the various churches in the city and country should all have their services conducted along lines suggestive of the day. Memorial Day is rapidly growing to be looked upon as one of the big days in Canada. The sentiment in regard to it is growing extensively, and not only relatives and friends of soldiers who died in the war are marking the day, but the people as a whole are beginning to realize the objective in setting apart a day each year "Lest We Forget."

For Sunday's celebration in Edmonton, three bands will take part, the G.W.V.A. band, the 49th battalion band, and the Edmonton Scottish Pipers' band.

The complete program will be available on Wednesday. No invitations will be sent out, other than to the Lieutenant Governor, the Premier and the Mayor.

Arrangements have been completed for the reception at the four Edmonton cemeteries of the flowers which are to be deposited on the graves of soldiers. Nearly 200 will be visited by members of the I.O.D.E. Caretakers of the various cemeteries are making special arrangements to have all the graves properly marked so that none will be overlooked.

MORE CONTROL IS EXERCISED ON COLLECTIONS

Officials of the Edmonton Board of Trade who co-operated with the mayor in regard to the controlling of collections for charities in the city are very pleased that the city council has passed a bylaw governing the collections. In future any solicitation for charitable objects and other similar matters, must first be approved of by the city commissioners. If approved, then following the close of a campaign for funds, a statement showing total receipts and expenditures and the amount the particular organization has benefitted must be submitted to the commissioners and also published in the newspapers.

DEPORTATION IS RECOMMENDED FOR AUSTRIAN

Reporting one of the worst cases of wife beating to have come under his notice Coperal Sacker of the Vegreville detachment of the Provincial police recommends deportation for Justyn Dordiuk an unnaturalized Austrian who has been found guilty on the charge of doing actual bodily harm to Mrs. Dordiuk and on the charge of non-support of his wife and family of small children.

The man was sentenced to serve six months on the former charge and to 12 months on the latter. He is now in jail at Fort Saskatchewan but the police say that he is a most undesirable settler and should be sent back to his own country.

SAYS MEIGHEN'S REPLY COMPLETE MISSTATEMENT

Representative of Unionized Government Employees Takes Exception to Ex-Premier

Montreal, Aug. 22—(Canadian Press)—Ex-Premier Arthur Meighen's statement to organized labor in reply to the latter's plea for a reorganization of the civil service was "labelled "a complete misstatement of the application and not in accordance with the true facts in the case," by Delegate Tunney, of Ottawa, representing the unionized government employees at this morning's session of the trade and labor congress.

"Contrary to Mr. Meighen's statement," declared Mr. Tunney, "We have not been granted a board of appeal against the decisions of the civil service commission. The board of hearing does not represent us as we were refused a representative on it. So, too, is the statement untrue that civil service workers' salaries have increased one hundred per cent. As a matter of fact many of us have only received increases of $5 in two years. Furthermore, patronage has not been eliminated from the service, owing to the present basis of the civil service commission."

Asks More Support

A plea by J. W. Wilkinson, Vancouver, that organized labor should give a more generous support to the Congress Journal, an official publication of the congress, precipitated the first spirited debate of the convention.

Delegate Watson, of Nova Scotia, a miners' representative assailed an editorial recently carried by the Journal, attacking the radical workers party of Canada and the role it played in the United Mine Workers of America elections. Mr. Watson claimed that the U.M.W. secretary, J. B. McLachlan, had been personally misrepresented with a view to injuring his chances of re-election. "The whole thing was a tissue and falsehood and that is why I can't return to Nova Scotia and ask organized labor to support this journal," he said.

Moore In Debate.

President Tom Moore promptly left the chair to take part in the debate. "I am certainly amazed," he began, "to see delegates come here to squeal because we have said something they don't agree with. It was all right for them to calumniate, abuse, vilify and misrepresent us, but we, as the executive were supposed to take it all and say nothing. Certain sections of labor, or certain leaders who are opposed to the ideals of international trades unionism, began a careful propaganda against us through labor papers whose control they had secured. They could do this, they could attack up, but we were supposed to remain silent. Let me say that so long as I am a member of organized labor I will fight any untruth or calumny wherever it comes from."

P. H. Draper, veteran secretary of the congress, in his speech, supported President Moore. Virulent propaganda, he said, was not carried on entirely by the One Big Union, against the congress, but also by certain organizations which were animated by motives of hostility towards all that trades union moderation stands for.

Senator Robertson Speaks.

Senator G. D. Robetrson, representing the railway telegraphers urged that more particularl attention be paid to what was going on in the Canadian parliament and in the various provincial legislatures. There were at the moment powerful groups of employers who have now realized that they could no longer fight against the right of the workmen to organize so they had turned to a campaign to discredit the international trades union movement. This campaign was being waged in parliament, legislatures and in newspapers. The congress should therefore aid its members through the journal by following all developments in this campaign to enable labor to ally itself with the group of employers who felt that their best interest lay in a flourishing industry and strong unionism.

"Boring from within"—the campaign being waged by the radical labor section—was burningly denounced by Mr. Wilkinson, in reading the committee's recommendations on the subject of the communists activities in Canada, as carried on by the Worker's Party of Canada and the Workers' Educational League.

The committee's report after citing various items of communist propaganda, concluded:

"Though as much more might be quoted, the above declarations are sufficient to leave no room for doubt that the intention of the Workers' Party of Canada is not to improve the usefulness of the trade unions, but, by first destroying confidence in the methods established through years of experience, to utilize them to bring the workers of Canada under the control of the red trade union international of Moscow."

Mr. Wilkinson said "there are adherents to this movement who are merely here to use the machinery of the congress to further their own red propoganda. If they want their ideas, they may have them, but they must keep out of the congress.

"Unfortunately our tolerance has been mistaken as a sign of weakness. But the time has come for congress to declare itself. The proper place for them is outside the trades union."

Congress adopted the committee's recommendations, and adjourned until this afternoon.

Husband and Wife Nearly Dead With CHOLERA

The chief symptoms of cholera are vomiting, and purgings occur either simultaneously or alternately and are usually sudden and very violent, and the matter ejected from the stomach has a billous appearance and a nasty bitter taste.

On the first symptoms appearing, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry should be taken, and the trouble checked before it becomes serious.

Mrs. Isaac Smith, Campbellton, N. B., writes: "We have been using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for cholera. My husband and I were pretty nearly dead with it until we started to use your medicine, and thanks to it, we have found great relief, and are recommending it to all our friends."

Seventy-seven years' reputation stands behind "Dr. Fowler's," therefore you are not experimenting with some new and untried remedy when you get it.

Western Grain Crop Will Total 317,000,000 Bushels According To Estimates of C. P. R. Officials

Cutting is Now General In Prairie Provinces—Wet Weather Has Caused Some Delay in Manitoba and Saskatchewan—General Average Yield Will Be Good In Alberta.

Winnipeg, Aug. 21—(By Canadian Press)—After a careful survey of the reports received from Canadian Pacific Railway agents throughout the west, it is estimated this year's crop will approximate 317,000,000 bushels, according to the weekly crop report of the C.P.R. agricultural department issued here today.

On the whole the past week has been a favorable one for harvesting the report states. Showers caused some inconpeniences and delay in a few localities, but delay was not prolonged.

Cutting is general in the prairie provinces. Reports indicate that the western crop generally is turning out well. Even in areas where poor yields were looked for, the conditions have proved better than expected. Sawfly is in evidence in a few parts, but in the localities affected wheat generally is ripe and the farmers are cutting before the heads have a chance to break off. Hail was responsible for some damage in parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan during the week.

Wet In Manitoba.

Wet weather interfered slightly with the progress of harvesting in Manitoba during the week. On the whole satisfactory advancement was recorded and fifty to sixty per cent. of the crop is cut in the south and twenty to thirty per cent in the northerly sections. At a number of points cutting is completed and threshing well started. Deloraine district reports threshing general, wheat going 25 bushels to the acre, weighing 63 pounds a bushel and grading number one Northern.

Heavy rains last Monday and Tuesday delayed harvesting in Saskatchewan. Fine warm weather followed, which is causing a heavy rush of early and late sowing, being all ready for cutting. Wheat threshing has started in a few localities and outturns have so far prover encouraging. Cutting is now general, ten to fifteen per cent being completed throughout the province. Hail damage over limited areas at the following points occurred on the Shaunavon sub-division on August 16; Admiral 25 per cent., also a number of farm houses and barns blown down; Shaunavon 50 per cent of the crop hailed.

Cutting General In Alberta.

Cutting is general in Alberta, and is proceeding under favorable weather conditions. Twenty to thirty per cent is completed in the south and five to ten per cent. in the central and more northern portions of the province. Reports indicate that while there are districts in parts of the province where, owing to the drought conditions the yield will be exceedingly low, the general average will be well maintained, the south particularly having the best crop for a number of years. Crops are much improved over recent reports on the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia railway. In spite of a prolonged drought period, yields are turning out considerably better than anticipated this being attributed to frequent heavy dews which seem to have furnished the necessary moisture. Grande Prairie and Peace River districts are estimated to have average crops of between fifteen to twenty bushels to the acre; oats about the same. Showers at numerous points during the week have benefited the late grains and pasture crops. Cutting is well started and proceeding under favorable conditions.

Rain In British Columbia.

The drought in British Columbia was broken during the week by heavy showers, the garden stuffs were greatly helped and improvement should result in both the quality and size of the late apple crop. Kamloops district reports conditions still dry and pasture very scarce, cattle being shipped to Calgary for feeding purposes.

Morinville Fair Was Success Despite Rain; Live Stock Good

The sixteenth annual exhibition of the Morinville Fair Association Limited was held on their grounds at Morinville on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 15th and 16th. Although the rain kept some away, still there was a fairly good attendance and much interest taken. Much credit for its success is due to the president, Mr. H. Emery Tellier and the secy-treas. J. B. Dalphond as well as directors Rev. M. Pilon Messrs. T. Challfoux, A. A. Forget, Thos. Knudsen, A. Gervais, O. Vilandre and Alva A. Steffes.

There was a good showing of cattle stock. There were fine pure-bred Clydesdale and Belgian horses as well as heavy draft grades and saddle horses and ponies.

There was a good showing of cattle the pure bred Shorthorns and Herefords were especially good.

In sheep and swine the exhibits were very good; the Tamworths and Duroc Jerseys were the favorites. There were many fine birds in the poultry exhibits, there were Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds and Orpingtons, also fine Turkeys, geese, ducks, pigeons and tame rabbits. The showing of sheaf grains and grasses was very good for such a drw season. The sheaves of wheat oats barley and timothy would be hard to beat anywhere. The vegetables also were large and extra good for this season. There were beans, beets, peas, carrots, lettuce, potatoes, tomatoes, turnips, radishes, rhubarb and some very fine large cucumbers. There was a fine showing of dairy and tub butter and home made cheese. The ladies work was attractive and useful. There were quilts, counterpanes, sweaters, dresses, sofa cushions, embroidery, crochet work, tatting, home spun yarn and hookell rugs.

There was a large exhibit of bread, cakes pies and home cooking, cooked turkey and chickens all very neat and appetizing. The children's work was numerous and well done, drawings, paintings, photos, toy houses, ship and toy airplane. The whole exhibition was a credit to Morinville district showing how industrious and energetic the people are.

The two letters which follow clearly show the broad field covered by this well-known medicine. Women from every section—you know some in your own neighborhood—praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a wonderful medicine for troubles women often have.

From Prince Edward's Island—East

Miscouche, P. E. I.—"I had female troubles for two years. I always had a headache and a pain in my side and sometimes I felt so weak that I could not do my work. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken six bottles of it. It has done me a lot of good and I am still taking it. I will tell my friends of your medicine and hope they will try it."—Mrs. Camille Des Roche, Miscouche, P. E. I.

From Saskatchewan—West

MINE WORKERS CONFERRING WITH MINE OPERATORS

Peace Conference in Connection With Nova Scotia Strike Now Being Held

Sydney, N.S., Aug. 22—Representatives of the British Empire Steel corporation, the striking United Mine Workers and the provincial government are sitting in at the preliminary peace conference which opened promptly at noon in the British Empire Steel Company's general offices here.

The United Mine Workers' executive held a secret session this morning, but refused to make any statement as to the result of their consultation. It is known, however, that the miners were considering the minimum wage which they are willing to accept to effect a settlement of the strike.

About the same time, Hon. D. A. Cameron, left by motor for the conference place and it was stated that he had received an invitation to be present as representative of the provincial government.

It was stated that this first meeting was regarded by both sides as merely a preliminary and adjournment until Wednesday was expected.

The night passed quietly in the coal field with no reports of disturbance or damage on the property. The almost continuous three days' rain has kept the bulk of the strikers indoors, although the pickets under semi-military discipline, carry on as usual.

Hon. Mr. Graham Ill.

Ottawa, Aug. 22—No further word has reached militia department headquarters today regarding the Cape Breton strike situation. Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of militia, has been compelled under doctor's orders, to leave Ottawa for his home at Brockville and take his bed there. Hon. Mr. Graham has been in poor health for some time, but in view of the situation in the coal mining area has remained at his office here until ordered away by his physician.

All speaking engagements, of which the minister had several during the coming week have been cancelled on the doctor's orders. Also has Mr. Graham's visit to Toronto where he was to present medals and address the men of the York Rangers.

Nothing Serious Expected.

In the event of any situation arising in the mining areas which will require ministerial action, it is expected that while no acting minister of militia has been named, the premier himself will take charge of the situation. From present indications, however, it is not expected that anything serious will be likely to arise and the next step expected is a request from the municipal or provincial authorities for the recall of the troops as soon as it can justify this step being taken.

There are so many new things being used, worn, and invented these days that to keep abreast of the times one must read the ads.

All Berlin Banks' Assets Are Less Than Five Million Dollars

Berlin, Aug. 22—It is estimated that on the basis of 1,200 marks to the dollar, the present value, the combined capital stock, reserves, realty and building fund reserves of the eight major banks of greater Berlin, including the four big institutions comprising "Die Gruppe," today represent a gold value slightly less than $5,000,000 although these assets are figured on the last balance sheets of the banks as worth 4,772,000,000 marks.

Germany's unpaid reparations debt is estimated at 120,000,000,000 gold marks. The slump in the mark is accelerating the practice of invoicing on the dollar basis by cost of the export lines, especially textile industries, many of which are also placing their plants at the disposal of the entente, accepting raw materials on condition that these be turned into the finished product at a fixed wage, as they no longer are able to operate under the conditions imposed by the fluctuations in the market both as regards ability to purchase raw materials and meet German wage demands.
